President Objects to Bill Proposing Radio Commission Which Senate Favors

Washington—Radio control which has for the last three years been puzzling manufacturers as well as owners of broadcasting stations is a worse tangle than ever today.

The senate has reported favorably the bill sponsored by Senator Dill of Washington, (Democrat) which is different from the provisions of the White bill passed by the house of representatives and directly contrary to the wishes of President Coolidge and Secretary Hoover.

OPPOSED TO DILL BILL

Several conflicting principles are involved. First, the president has set himself firmly against any more independent commissions. He has had trouble enough with the tariff commission, the Federal Trade commission and personnel problems in his make-up of the Interstate Commerce commission. Now it is proposed to have an independent commission appointed by the president but subject to the control of congress. These independent establishments have become a thorn in the side of the Coolidge administration. The president insists that in as much as congress is up to the executive to select the personnel he should have complete jurisdiction over the functioning of the commissions. His argument is that the bipartisan commission gets into a deadlock and stops functioning. Mr. Coolidge sides with Hoover in the contention that these commissions should be a part of the executive department and subject to executive administration.

As for radio, there has been some criticism of Mr. Hoover from some of the broadcasting stations. In fact, there had not been in view of the unusually complicated situation over a new commission instead of being handled as at present under the interstate commerce commission. The latter commission is so overworked with railroad cases that its members have never had much time for the thorough study of communication tangles. If the radio commission established, it will be a step toward the addition of telephone and telegraph to its tasks though at present there is nothing about the telegraph or the telephone which is using any public discussion so far as interstate business is concerned. Congress however has shown a disposition to inquire into the relationship of one form of communication to another and if a new commission is formed there will be discussion about adding telegraph and telephone to its functions.

CAL CONTROLS SITUATION

The situation is very much in the hands of Mr. Coolidge, who opposed commission control altogether. He is now in a position to veto a bill which gives another commission to appoint one of its members. He has been guided by what the radio world would advise. The Hoover regime is being rather popular with the radio fans especially the amateur operators and the administration may be inclined to take its stand because of the support of the Hoover policy will be sufficient to meet the criticism that has been made by the opponents of the department of commerce.

New London Trio Takes First Place In Contest

Madison—(P)—Chippewa Falls high school was conspicuous in the competition Friday in the All-Wisconsin high school music contest, capturing four of the 14 events for high schools in cities of less than ten thousand population.

The girls glee club mixed chorus and the soloist work of Margaret Trueblood, pianist, and Wilbur Schaefer, singer, brought the northern Wisconsin high school the largest number of first places captured by any school. Soloists and musical organizations from larger Wisconsin cities compete Saturday in class A.

The contest being held for the third time under the auspices of the School of Music of the University of Wisconsin is being judged by John Beaty, Northwestern University, M. E. Snyder, director of music in public schools Gary Ind, and Charles Lutton Chicago.

Wauwatosa won the band contest Friday, with Waupun second. West De Pere finished second in the girls glee club event, Sparta was first and River Falls second for boys glee clubs. Cudahy's orchestra won first place, with Wisconsin Rapids second. Sparta was second in the mixed chorus competition.

Other winners Friday were: piano Margaret Trueblood, Chippewa Falls first; Eldred Howe, Elkhorn second; Vilron Philoe Nash, Wisconsin Rapids, first; Daniel D'Arnico, Spooner second.

Soprano, Helen Downey, Portage, first; Ruth Emerson, Shorewood, second.

Boys voices, Wilbur Schaefer, Chippewa Falls, first; John Larue, Osceola, second.

Contralto, Marv Downey, Fort Atkinson, first; Dorothy Miller, Cudahy, second.

Cornet, Joseph Wenkman, Kilbourn first; Harry Lutz Shorewood, second; Clarinet, Ronald Jones Evanville, first; Russell Harding, Mosinee, second.

Quartet, Shorewood, first; Lancaster, second; New London, first; Watertown second.

Worst Forest Fire In 40 Years Rages In Wisconsin

Superior—(P)—Thousands of dollars worth of pine and seven farms provided fuel for the worst forest fire in 40 years in the vicinity of Solon Springs summer resort village 30 miles south of Superior on Friday. This morning the fire was under control after cutting a 25 mile swath which brought it to the very doors of cottages of scores of summer resorts on Lake St. Croix.

Friday afternoon speeding automobiles of Superior and Duluth motorists brought an army of 150 volunteers to the east side of the lake where the fire was worst. Fifty members of the Superior post of the American Legion answered a call of George Lee, commander and fought the fire.

Unless rain falls soon the danger of further fire is great. Residents of the village of Solon Springs Friday transferred to the west side of the lake where of Friday carried across the lake. They fear serious damage will result unless there is rain.

TORNADO SWEEPS EAST OKLAHOMA

Two Killed and Over a Score Hurt in Wind Storm That Strikes State

Okla. City, Okla.—(P)—Two persons are known to have been killed and more than two score injured, three probably fatally, in a tornado which swept eastern Oklahoma Friday. Crippled were service Saturday delayed reports from the stricken area.

Oba Tidwell, 72 and his 15 year old son were instantly killed at their farm home near Spiro, in LeFlore county when they attempted to reach a storm cellar. Mrs. R. M. Masterson, LeFlore county, was brought to a Fort Smith hospital in a serious condition.

Ralph Brendley, eight, is in a Muskogee hospital with a fractured skull. A negro girl is reported near death at Morse.

POLICE CATCH ONE ESCAPED CONVICT

La Salle, Ill.—(P)—A man caught three miles east of here Saturday admitted to Frank McInerney, chief of police, that he is Charles Schader, one of the seven convicts who escaped from the Stateville penitentiary last Wednesday.

Schader, sentenced in Chicago to life imprisonment for murder was supposed to have been with James Price, sentenced in Winnebago county, for robbery. They left the other convicts shortly after the prison break.

Schader told chief McInerney that he and Price separated Thursday. When arrested, Schader was suffering from a bad cut on the back of his head received in a fall from a freight train.

Schader offered no resistance when approached by Peter Walloch, La Salle policeman and James Flannery, special deputy sheriff, but had to be run down before he would surrender.

300 REBELS ATTACK MEXICAN SEA PORT

Mexico City—(P)—Radio reports say 300 rebels under the orders of the Vidales brothers attacked Acapulco, a Pacific port in the state of Guerrero. They were defeated and dispersed with casualties by a federal force under General Amarillas, the district military commander.

The activities of the Vidales, it is added are believed to be due to local politics.

Washington, D. C.—(P)—President Coolidge sponsors the pending railroad labor bill, Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana, in charge of the measure declared Saturday in the senate.

SLAYER SAYS HE REFUSED TO LEAVE PRISON

Was in Solitary Confinement for Sugar Stealing When Convicts Left

Joliet, Ill.—(P)—Two stories involving Nathan Leopold, slayer of Bobby Franks one that he refused an opportunity to flee with seven convicts from Stateville prison Wednesday and another that he pleaded to be taken along and was refused, have come out of the investigation of the escape.

The youthful son of a rich Chicago family who is serving a life sentence with Richard Loeb, after conviction in one of America's most sensational criminal trials said he declined to join the seven fleeing convicts four of whom have since been captured. His statement was made to Hjalmar Rehn states attorney of Will-co who is directing the grand jury investigation of the prison break.

A different story is told by Jacob Judnich, one of the guards wounded by the escaping sextet. He related that Leopold had asked to be taken along but that the convicts refused. While there have been some rumors that Leopold may have aided in engineering the escape because of the fact that he was in a cell adjoining that occupied by Charles Duschowski, leader of the convicts, and was able to communicate with him, no official cognizance apparently was being taken of this theory. Rehn even said that Leopold would not be taken before the grand jury because what he knew was not considered of sufficient importance.

LEOPOLD STEALS SUGAR

Leopold at the time of the escape was in solitary confinement for stealing sugar, handcuffed so that he was held in a standing position. His cell was in an isolated cell house in which Deputy Warden Klein has his office and where the latter was killed by the convicts in making their break.

As Klein's slayers passed down the corridor they unlocked several cells with keys taken from a guard, and asked Leopold if he wished to join them, according to his story. "I told them I did not want to go, but they unlocked the door anyhow and I thought they were going to kill me. When I told them I was satisfied to stay where I was they cursed me and left."

Leopold denied he had any knowledge of the escape plot.

A new lead in the prison investigation was believed by officials to have been obtained when States Attorney Rehn took possession of a series of penciled notes found in the slain deputy's office. These crude documents apparently the reports of trustees on fellow prisoners were scattered about the floor near the spot where Klein slugged with an iron bar fell. The prosecutor said they were so important that the contents would not be divulged until the grand jury meets again Monday.

"I think there will be plenty of evidence to help Cook-co authorities in their inquiry into how paroles were obtained," he said.

MURDERED MAN MAY BE VICTIM OF GANGSTERS

Chicago—(P)—Gang warfare now the subject of a special grand jury investigation here has claimed another victim, police believe. The body of Victor De France was found in an automobile on a deserted road south of here early Saturday. He had been shot several times.

Fourteen indictments, most of them charging prohibition law violations have been returned by the crime grand jury. Its inquiry was started soon after the fatal machine gun attack on Assistant States Attorney William McGwiggan and two companions.

PREACHES SANCTITY OF HOME DESPITE CHARGES

Monroe, Mich.—(P)—The Rev. William R. Curtis, pastor of the First Baptist church, plans to preach a "Mothers Day" sermon Sunday on the sanctity of home he said, despite a temporary injunction granted Thursday to Mrs. Iva M. Bryan a member of his church preventing him from announcing her with his attention. The minister said he probably would refer to the injunction in his sermon.

PASTOR PROVES THAT HE CAN BUY WHISKY

Kansas City Mo.—(P)—Two half pint bottles and one quart bottle of corn whisky were brought before the grand jury here by The Rev. I. M. Hargett, formerly of Racine, pastor of the Gand avenue Methodist church, as evidence of charges made in pulpits that liquor can be bought openly. The minister had been subpoenaed to give the grand jury the information on which he based his talks.

Fear Disturbances in London When Workers Get Strike Pay

London—(P)—Intensive preparations by the government to deal with any untoward situation and keep the vital services running featured the fifth day of the general strike.

This being Saturday, a half holiday, there was little attempt to conduct ordinary business anywhere. A government statement at 1 P. M. said the situation was the same as Friday and satisfactory. Labor headquarters did not issue its usual noon statement but conferences were going on continually among the leaders. Thus far there are no signs of reopening official peace negotiations and the miners' leader, A. J. Cook told the Associated Press there was nothing to indicate the possibility of any such parleys over the weekend.

In the Welsh mining districts strikers are beginning to feel the pinch of hunger and hundreds of miners' families have applied to the poor guardians for relief. The police in the congested districts of London were reinforced Saturday as a precaution against possible looting of shops Saturday when the workers receive strike pay instead of their usual weekly envelopes.

HELP FOR POLICE

Armored cars are being moved toward London from the Aldershot military camp and a tank corps was embarked at Belfast Saturday morning for an unknown destination. No disorders of consequence had been reported up to early afternoon, London time.

The trans Atlantic liners continue to move passengers to and from the ports by means of motor launches. The strikers pickets make no trouble at the docks and most sailings are proceeding according to schedule.

Edinburgh authorities closed the saaloons Saturday afternoon but there were no reports of such action elsewhere.

Nothing in the way of peace can be expected next week at the latest high labor officials say. The government continues to assert that it has the situation well in hand. Among the many small disturbances throughout the country the most persistent are at Glasgow. Gangs of hoodlums work methodically. Dispersed by mounted police they soon reappear at other points and resume their rioting.

At Crews a crowd rushed the railway offices, when the officials refused to pay wages. The attackers were dispersed.

A number of telegraph and railroad signal lines were cut between New Castle and Hexham.

STEAL STAMPS FROM MERRILL POSTOFFICE

Merrill—(P)—Robbers entered the postoffice here some time before 4:45 A. M. Saturday cut a hole through the vault, and made away with an undetermined amount of postage and a small amount of cash. They did not succeed in forcing the safe. A janitor going to work shortly before 5 A. M., encountered three men coming from the vault and of the postoffice building. They walked to a parked automobile joined a fourth apparently the driver, and sped away to the north.

The robbers used acetone torches to force their way into the vault entrance in the building was gained by forcing a window.

OUTLINES REMAINING PROGRAM FOR HOUSE

Washington, D. C.—(P)—The house program for the remainder of the session was outlined Saturday by Representative Tilton, of Connecticut, the Republican leader, as including farm rivers and harbors coal, veteran and judiciary and civil service legislation.

END FARM RELIEF DEBATE SATURDAY

Many Predict That No Farm Relief Measure Will Be Passed This Session

Washington, D. C.—(P)—General debate in the house on farm relief legislation will be closed Saturday night after three days and two evenings of continuous discussions.

The three bills under consideration—The Haysen Price-Stabilization measure, the Tinchler Credit Plan and the Curtis-Aswell National Commodity Marketing proposal—will be taken up Monday for amendment.

With party alignment split, leaders were reluctant to forecast the result. Proponents of each measure claim growing strength. A number of members on the other hand predict that the Haysen and Tinchler bills, which apparently have most of the support, will "kill each other off" and no farm legislation will be enacted.

STREET CAR COLLISION INJURES SEVEN PEOPLE

Eau Claire—(P)—Seven persons were injured here late Friday in a head on collision between two street cars on the Grand avenue bridge.

Five of them received severe cuts and bruises and were taken to a hospital where their condition was said to be not serious. The other two were shaken up and taken to their homes.

Those taken to the hospital were Benjamin Dahl, motorman, Mrs. William Legge, Mrs. John Higley, Mrs. F. A. Moore and George Frank, all of this city.

STATE NORMAL GETS RIGHT TO GRANT DEGREE

Regents Authorize Whitewater Normal School to Change Course

Madison—(P)—The first step toward the granting of degrees by the state normal schools authorized by the last legislature has been taken up by the state board of normal regents.

The board Friday authorized the Whitewater Normal school to offer a four year course leading to a bachelor's degree in education for the training of the training of teachers in commercial subjects for high school, beginning in September, 1926.

The board also adopted a resolution providing for a committee of five regents with power to receive applications from various normal schools setting forth their desires regarding the establishment of degree granting courses.

TO APPOINT COMMITTEE

The committee of which the present board will be chairman, probably will be appointed within the next week.

The committee was directed to require each school to outline in detail its equipment for conducting such courses both as to qualifications of teachers and physical equipment and to report at the next meeting of the board without recommendations as to detail of such requests.

The board will hold its next meeting in July.

With the establishment of the four years course leading to a degree Whitewater Normal will discontinue its three year course in commercial subjects.

A resolution requesting release of funds by Governor Blaine for a new normal school building at River Falls was adopted by the board which stated that the building was first in the order of needs.

Soviet Paper For London If Big Strike Succeeds

London—(P)—Izvestia, organ of the federal central executive committee of the Soviets in Moscow has a vision of invading the world of Journalism in London if the British general strike is successful.

"One step further," it says and "Izvestia" will be produced in the splendidly equipped offices of the London Times.

In Paris the Typographical union has forbidden the setting of type for English language newspapers printed in France and destined for sale in England. On the other hand the South African Typographical union has notified its members to ignore an appeal of the trades union not to print anything detrimental to the cause of the British strikers.

British bicycle concerns are working overtime to meet the demands of those who have grown tired of hiking to and from business.

Two million rubles have been sent to the trades union congress in London by the general council of trades unions of the Union of Soviet socialist republics in Russia for aid of the strikers.

Denial is made by the British war office of rumors that the army has reached the end of its resources, that reserves have been called up and that troops have been ordered on strike duty and have refused to obey orders. It declares that no troops have been called out to aid the civil authorities with the exception of guards for a few vulnerable points.

SCHNEIDER SENDS $100 TO STRIKING BRITISH LABORERS

Washington, D. C.—(P)—A contribution of $100 was cabled Saturday to the striking British labor union by Representative George Schneider, Republican, Appleton, Wis., who is a member of the executive board of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor.

Mr. Schneider said a reduction in wages and living standards for British labor would mean an ultimate corresponding reduction in this country.

"The labor struggle has always been a constant battle on the part of the mine owners to lower the wages of the British miners and to increase the number of hours of employment as a vicious and unkind attack upon welfare of labor and society in general. I cannot help but sympathize in the cause of the striking workers of England."

WILSON SCHOOL PRESENTED WITH HUGE PAINTING

D. A. R. Donates Painting of Woodrow Wilson to Junior High School

Presentation of a huge oil painting of former President Woodrow Wilson to Wilson Junior high school by the local chapter of daughters of American Revolution was the outstanding event of parent's visiting day program at the school Thursday evening. Between 1,000 and 1,200 parents and visitors attended the exercises and class demonstrations.

The presentation speech was made by Miss Carrie Morgan, and the painting was accepted by Dr. M. H. Small on behalf of the school. Mrs. H. W. Russell, regent of the D. A. R. chapter, presented a poem "Woodrow Wilson" by Omar Barker was recited by Lucille Joran, a Wilson student. Dr. Earl L. Baker led community singing. Brief outlines of the aims and courses of the departments were given by teachers. Alma Bohlman and Jane Bailey outlined the work of the mathematics department while Hilda Kippenhan and Elsa Breitenbach discussed the aims of the social science department and illustrated their talks with papers of children in their classes.

Work in the English courses was discussed by Ruth Loan and illustrated with recitations by students. Each making clear a special phase of the work. The science work was explained by Francis Colten and laboratory demonstrations were given. Classes of boys were shown at work in the wood working and metal shops and in the print shop.

In addition to these demonstrations there were numerous exhibits of class room work. The work of the home economics department received much favorable comment. The program was concluded with an exhibition of physical education classes in the gymnasium.

BURBANK MANTLE FALLS ON FORMER NEW LONDON BOY

William H. Henderson, 21-year-old California youth who will carry on the unfinished work of Luther Burbank, is a stepson of Howard Logan, former resident of New London. Howard Logan's father conducted a clothing store at New London a number of years ago, according to Mrs. L. Phillips of this city.

It was young Henderson, watched for three years by Burbank, who was entrusted with the secrets and plans and hopes of the plant wizard. Now that the latter is dead, his widow has announced Burbank's choice of the man who is to continue with the work.

It was a year ago that Burbank took Henderson into his confidence and told him that he was to be his successor. Methods of developing new species and all the results of Burbank's long lifetime of experience were told to Henderson. The youth had been in the employ of the

THREE TRAINING CAMPS ARE OPEN

Camp Sparta, Fort Sheridan, or Fort Snelling Will House
Men

Sparta—(P)—Three camps, part of the system of 40 established through out the United States, will provide training this summer for the youth and young manhood of Wisconsin attracted by the national program for military preparedness.

Under the arrangement for the Citizens Military training camps announced today by Capt. Delbert Ausmus of the Sixth Corps area which includes Wisconsin, Michigan and Illinois, the men from this state will no longer be trained at Camp Custer. Instead they will come to Camp Sparta or go to Fort Sheridan or Fort Snelling, Minn.

Fort Sheridan opens August 3 to provide a month's training for men from northern Illinois, southern and eastern Wisconsin. Northwestern Wisconsin candidates will go to Fort Snelling, while Camp Sparta will accommodate field artillery candidates from eastern and southern Wisconsin, Michigan and northern Illinois.

Fort Sheridan is a permanent army station located 30 miles north of Chicago on Lake Michigan.

The diversified terrain of the reservation at Camp Sparta in Monroe county makes it an ideal training camp for field artillery, declared Captain Ausmus.

Fort Snelling is a permanent army station at the junction of the Mississippi and Minnesota rivers, six miles from St. Paul, Minn.

Captain Ausmus estimates 1,450 young men will train at Fort Sheridan for infantry, cavalry, and signal corps.

Those eligible for the camps are limited to boys and young men between the ages of 17 and 21 years.

Come In and See The Coleman Cooker Make Its Own Gas

How would you like a modern gas range and a gas plant—all in one? That's just exactly what we have to show you in Coleman Cookers. They make their own gas—give you every convenience of a city gas range. We are selling this new, modern stove to a great many folks and they are all pleased.

Come in and see how easy it is to operate the Coleman. See how clean, convenient and speedy it is. We will be glad to demonstrate, without any obligation on your part.

2c Worth of Fuel Cooks A Meal!

The Coleman Hot-Blast Starter produces full cooking heat in 60 seconds. Bakes biscuits in 6 minutes. Clean—no soot, smoke or charred wicks. Absolutely safe. Fuel is gas from common motor gasoline under pressure. Tank can't spill fuel, can't be filled while lighted. Always ready to cook anything you want, any style. Made in various sizes and styles at very reasonable prices.

FROST DELAYS REPAIR WORK ON COUNTY'S ROADS

But Highways Generally Are in Good Condition for Sunday Driving

Practically all Outagamie county roads are passable, but numerous bad spots may be found on the concrete, according to a report from the office of the county highway commissioner.

Parts of highway 156 are said to be "spongy," and a particularly bad spot is reported on county trunk 12, about two miles north of Little Chute.

Most county trunk roads still are soft, it is said. County patrolmen have been busy but their work cannot be thoroughly effective until all the frost is out of the ground. All roads should be in good condition within a few days if weather is favorable the report states.

Generally speaking, most state trunk highways in Wisconsin are in fair to good condition, except in some northern counties, according to an announcement from the state highway commission.

Splendid weather which prevailed throughout the state during the past few days has greatly improved the roads damaged by heavy rains early this week. Unless heavy showers intervene all main roads should be good enough by Sunday to enable motorists to travel in all parts of Wisconsin without discomfort.

All state trunk highways are reported to be generally good in Col umbia, Dane, Dodge, Green, Jefferson, Rock, Sauk, Brown, Chetek, Door, Kewaunee, Manitowish, Marinette, Oconto, Outagamie, Shawano and Winnebago counties.

They are in good shape in Fond du Lac, Kenosha, Milwaukee, Ozaukee, Racine, Sheboygan, Walworth, Washington and Waukesha counties, with the following detours in effect:

Racine—on 77 north of the Kenosha line and on 83 south of Burlington, Walworth on 89 north of Richmond, Washington on 155 north of South Germantown and Waukesha—on 83 between Geneva and Mukwonago.

All state trunk highways are open to travel in Adams, Green Lake, Lincoln, Marathon, Marquette, Port Keweenaw, Waushara and Wood counties, although the clay roads in the northern section are only in fair condition. Oil is being placed on 12 and 29 between Manson and Auburn.

Bad roads are encountered in Florence, Vilas, Iron, Langlade, Lincoln, Oneida and Pierce counties. Highway 19 is fairly good except through onco 13 and 14 are bad in spots and 26 is poor between Pelican and Three Lakes. The frost is not out yet.

Here Are Three More Pictures Of Appleton Babies

HERE are three more of Appleton's pretty babies whose photos were snapped by H. A. Schultze. The Post-Crescent baby photo grapher this week. Mothers of these babies can collect $2 in cash and a pair of tickets to "That's My Baby," at Fischer's Appleton theatre by calling at the office of The Post-Crescent and identifying the pictures as their youngsters.

This is the last publication of pictures in this stunt offered for entertainment of Post-Crescent readers by The Post-Crescent and Fischer's Appleton theatre.

Three of the pictures printed up until Friday night have not been identified. One was printed last Tuesday and the other two on Friday.

The three pictures printed Thursday and one on Friday have been identified. The children were Carl Ehke, son of Mrs. Edward Ehke, 1527 N. Morrison-st., Harold Sawall son of Mrs. Chester Sawall, 1019 V. Spring-st., Harold Mollon son of Mr. William Mollon, 129 N. Mason-st., Robert Vanderlinden, son of M. Charles Vanderlinden, 32 Sherman-st. Mothers and fathers of children whose pictures appeared in The Post-Crescent want to miss the opportunity of seeing "That's My Baby."

Fischer's Appleton theatre next week. It is a rollicking comedy in which Douglas MacLean sets out to prove that he can determine a girl's character by her ankles. He has a half wished on him and before the laugh gets straightened out the audience has a pretty good time. "That's My Baby" has been universally praised as one of MacLean's greatest comed successes.

Three of the pictures printed up until Friday night have not been identified. One was printed last Tuesday and the other two on Friday.

PUNISHING DRUNKEN DRIVER

We wish to commend the judges for the greater vigor with which they are administering the law against drunken driving this year. So far they have made a good beginning. More have been jailed and barred from the right to drive than have been fined. This is as it should be. It is what The Post-Crescent has pleaded for and demanded the last several years. Not until the last legislative session was there a law on the statute books which directly empowered courts, in addition to barring or fining offenders, which specifically authorized them to enter an order prohibiting a person convicted of drunken driving from operating a motor vehicle of any kind.

This section of the statute puts teeth into the law designed to protect the public against drunken driving. It is the one effective means to stop this evil or to reduce it to a minimum. A man convicted of driving a motor car while intoxicated is not sufficiently impressed with the gravity of this very serious misdemeanor by a fine. He is more soundly impressed with it if he is sent to jail, but more than either, he is best taught his lesson if he is ruled off the road and denied the right to drive an automobile. A man who has so little self-respect that he is willing to pay a heavy fine or even go to jail in violating the law is best taken care of by being put in a position where he cannot violate the law. This is done when the order of the court forbids him the privilege of driving for a definite period. The more the courts utilize this section of the law the quicker they will rid the highways of this deadly menace to life and limb.

The public is a unit for vigorous, even relentless, enforcement of the law against the drunken driver. It is for all practical purposes 100 per cent back of judges who do their duty in this respect fearlessly and firmly. The public wants the law enforced and it wants it enforced in a way that will bring results. It has been proved beyond question that a fine does no good. The number of cases of this kind in the local courts here each year have conclusively established this fact. The judge who sets out boldly to stamp out drunken driving and employs unsparringly the ample weapons of law now provided will have the support and appreciation of the public. Moreover, this policy is emphatically his duty.

CLUTTERED COURTS

The courts are justified in seeking relief from overcrowding that they may give the necessary attention to such cases as should properly come before them. In the instance of the lower courts, the machinery of the law has not kept pace with the expanding needs, and, also, prohibition has filled them to overflowing, with lists of untold cases that would keep them busy for months, if not years, to come. The state and federal courts also suffer with a surplus of improper cases, but perhaps their greatest difficulty is in being swamped with a deluge of detail that quite properly might be performed by clerical departments.

Chief Justice Taft stressed this fact in an appeal before the house committee on immigration recently, in favoring a bill to relieve federal courts of detail attending naturalization. He stated that in some cities judges were required to give up so much time to naturalization proceedings as to create a stoppage of every other class of business and that in many instances this had resulted in delaying action in important criminal cases. Clearly, this interfering with the efficient working of the courts.

If the process of naturalization is not a proper function for the courts, some other plan, for instance, a commission plan, should be established. The courts of the country should not under any circumstance be allowed, through unnecessary detail, to be so crowded that quick, complete justice cannot be dispensed.

FILIPINO TIME LIMITS

Governor General Leonard Wood has just stated in a public way for the first time how long he is inclined to think it will be before we can safely or honorably depart from the Philippines. His estimate is fifty to a hundred years.

Asked if he believes the Filipino capable of self-government, he is quoted as saying:

"Potentially, yes. But to translate this potentiality into an actuality will take a long time—somewhere, perhaps, between a half and a full century. It is a matter of rearing and educating occidentally enough Filipinos to govern the country. There are far from enough now. Young educated people are still a small proportion of the population. We need more schools and teachers and a great extension of the English language, which alone can serve as a medium of psychological consolidation among people dispersed over thousands of islands and divided by eighty-seven different dialects."

The United States may confidently accept the word of Governor General Wood. We have had too high hopes for the rapid civilization of the Philippines. If it is to be a half-century job, perhaps some amendment of the present Philippine organic act is advisable in order to make it possible to develop the rubber-growing potentialities of the islands and build up their wealth and commerce while the slow educational process is going on.

A CHORUS GIRLS' CLUB

A really meritorious suggestion has been made regarding chorus girls and it is that they form a club, with headquarters in New York and branches in other large cities, where they may live while in the city and find healthful recreation, a refined environment, and proper food. The plan has the support and approval of the Actor's Equity association and benefits have already been held to raise money for the nucleus of a fund to provide a clubhouse in New York.

The public has a very definite idea of what a chorus girl is and the description is somewhat as follows: bleached hair, painted face, few clothes and less morals. This impression is entirely erroneous, since the great majority of chorus girls are decent, self-respecting girls, who either have ambitions to elevate themselves in the theatrical profession or to capitalize whatever good looks and talent they have in the earning of an honest living.

The club idea will have the support of these girls, who form such a large majority of the theatrical profession, and certainly it should elicit not only the abstract approval of the general public, but actual financial aid. It has every appearance of a worthy cause.

TODAY'S POEM

By HAL COCHRAN

Fluffy bits of popcorn from the little kernels grow. That's what makes the popcorn man a man we like to know. Little kiddies holler when he comes down the street. Grown-ups get their money out to purchase of his treat.

Ever stand and watch him, as he's gettin' set to pop? Starts to shake the popper and of course he doesn't stop. Little flake-like kernels take a hop and twist and turn. Now it's off the fire before it has a chance to burn.

Butter comes a drizzlin', and the salt begins to fly. Now the popcorn's ready to attract the passer-by. Bags are overflowing to present a tasty sight. What is more appealing to a person's appetite?

Hi, there, Mister Popcorn Man, we're glad that you were born. Hope you'll ne'er be stoppin' at your lack of poppin' corn. Shakin', shakin', shakin' is the daily thing you do. Wish that we could have the chance to just shake hands with you.

Some people are unlucky enough to think there is such a thing as being unlucky.

Many nuisances formerly found only in rich homes are enjoyed by the working man now.

If we buy all the attachments we want for our flivver the sheriff will come along with another.

Can't tell if a wild looking man is writing spring poetry or making out his income tax.

Everything's relative. A chigger probably thinks a flea is an elephant.

By dividing your money properly you can make it multiply.

The cream rises to the top of the milk, but sours just as quickly.

Being sick in bed is awful. It gives you too much time to think.

Doing what you think is right is never wrong.

Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamp and self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

DIET AND DIABETES

In the halcyon days when doctors were van dykes and traveled in stanhope patients usually received, besides the bottle of tonic and package, a list of food items in two columns. The first column contained most of the grave problems of this world and the second column was marked "may eat." The second column mentioned most of the appetizing things, and was marked "may not eat." Provided with such a list, and provided the tonic was atrocious in flavor, the patient went his way rejoicing, and firmly believed the doctor was a learned man.

The use of "diet lists" as appropriate for certain disease conditions, became obsolete about the time the right hand drive was discarded by automotive engineers. Today such "diet lists" are used mainly by humbug salesmen, a few broken down medical practitioners who have become the tools or unpaid agents of aggressive proprietary interests, and an occasional insurance company or mail order "health institute" in the lucrative business of practicing long distance medicine without a license.

I remember how soon I was imbued with the total depravity of starch as a food material when I entered upon private practice, although I had heard never a derogatory medical studies. It seemed that the proprietary food and medicine manufacturers had decided that starch or foods containing starchy material must go, and with the well misinformed layman it was a fatal mistake for a doctor to permit a starchy food to get into the "may eat" column. Starch created gas, gas indigestion, indigestion nervousness and nervousness led straight to a sanitarium.

The sanitariums took some of my best patients. Those old diet lists were constructed almost wholly upon empirical grounds, queer fancies or prejudices such as the one about starchy foods. The science of nutrition had scarcely got started, calories were generally assumed to be something between corporals and colonels in the marines, and vitamins, if they existed, managed to elude capture. Authoritative textbooks on dietetics or the use of food in health and disease were plentiful and voluminous enough, heaven knows, but—well, some time when you have nothing worth while to occupy your mind just run through that would happen if Dickens were trying to get his stuff published today.

Perhaps the last of all the diseases to be divorced from the may eat and may not eat diet lists is diabetes. The distinguishing feature of diabetes is incapacity to utilize carbohydrate (starches or sugars) as fuel. This incapacity was formerly assumed to be absolute, and so the doctors attempted to arrange a diet for diabetes that eliminated all starches. As we know now, the incapacity to utilize, oxidize, metabolize carbohydrate is only relative, and each individual diabetic patient's relative capacity or incapacity for utilizing carbohydrates is an individual question to be determined by the physician. Depending on the individual tolerance for carbohydrate so determined, more or less starchy food is not only allowable but quite essential for the cure. A healthy person may utilize from 14 to 20 or more ounces of carbohydrate (all varieties of starchy material or sugar daily. A person with diabetes may be able to utilize only four ounces or possibly eight. But whatever the diabetic patient's tolerance may be, success in the control of the condition demands that the patient shall have all the carbohydrate he can utilize.

FINGER PRINT EXPERTS FORM NATIONAL CLUB

Purpose of New Association Is to Increase Knowledge of System

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—There has recently been organized in Washington an association which it is believed will be of particular interest to the business men of the country. This association is known as the Federal Finger Print Association, and its membership is taken from those persons in the Federal government who are actively engaged in personal identification by the use of finger prints.

The announced purpose of this new society is to "employ the collective wisdom of the profession to advance the scientific technique of identification by research and the dissemination of knowledge and the improvement of the profession through the medium of assembling its members in session and by publications and other means."

The Federal Finger Print Association, it is stated, will stand ready at all times to advise and assist the business man in every possible way that will enable him to establish the identity of his employees or help him in identifying the criminal who may jeopardize his interests. It will help any business man who has already adopted the use of finger prints or the one who is contemplating such use.

Formerly to the general public the word "finger print" has immediately brought to mind "criminal." There has been an effort recently, however, to popularize finger printing, and it is recognized by many that there are other very important uses for finger printing besides tracing and identifying the criminal.

At the annual convention of the International Association for Identification, which was held last August in Ontario, Canada, Major Munroe O. Toeves, of the Detroit Identification bureau, gave a very interesting talk on the subject of popularizing finger prints.

Major Toeves first spoke of the fact that for a number of years the military branches of the Federal Government have made finger prints part of their records. He stressed the point that finger prints made possible the prompt and satisfactory settlement of claims for adjusted compensation. Comparison of the finger prints included on the applicant's official record with those on his application made identification a simple matter.

The Post Office Department also now uses finger prints, for identification purposes in connection with the Postal Savings Bank, and commercial banks are beginning to use this system in safety vault departments and in connection with letters of credit.

It is said that there are some twenty-seven banks in the city of Chicago which use finger prints to identify clients.

Major Toeves says that the Detroit files include the finger prints of nearly a thousand persons who have requested that their prints be placed on file against such a contingency as accidental death, loss of memory, or kidnapping. Little Eddie Guest, the son of the well known American poet, Edgar Guest, is one of a number of children whose finger prints are on file.

All applicants for positions as taxi drivers in Detroit are required to have finger prints made. This is also the case in New York City, and this system is considered one of the greatest safeguards to the many strangers in that city who depend largely upon taxicab drivers for finding their way around. It is said that the results in the latter city were amazing, for out of twenty-two thousand applicants for positions as drivers, fifteen hundred were found to have been registered in the Bureau of Identification as criminals.

Another important use for finger prints is the identification of unknown dead. In New York City all persons who are found dead anywhere within the city are taken to the general public morgue and there they are finger printed. The number of identifications through this means average about seventy-five annually. Those who are advocating universal finger printing use the argument of the unidentified dead as one of the great reasons for this.

Great disasters where many were never identified are pointed to as examples. One instance is that of the Slocum, an excursion boat which burned on Long Island Sound some years ago. There were over eighty children who perished and who were so disfigured that it was impossible for their parents to identify them. It was noted, however, that in many cases their fingers were in fairly good condition. It might have been possible to identify at least some of them if finger prints had been on file.

The Question Box

Our Washington Information Bureau does not take a vacation. It is on the job every day during the year, answering questions for our readers. Its special service is to answer any question of fact on any subject for any reader at any time. It is impossible to make a complete enumeration of subjects giving an adequate idea of the scope and range in which the Bureau can serve you. Its activities can only be summed up in the phrase "whatever you want to know." Send in your question and get the right answer. Enclose a two cent stamp for return postage. Address The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. Why wasn't a place farther west chosen for the capital of the United States? K. P.

A. When the national capital was established at Washington the country west of the Mississippi was scarcely inhabited except by Indian tribes, therefore Washington was centrally located with respect to the states then existing. The question of moving the national capital to a more central position has repeatedly been discussed, but the importance of the question is not so paramount at the present time because of the development of transportation and communication. Since the construction of railroads and the inauguration of the wireless telegraph, as well as the telegraph, the capital of the United States can be kept in constant communication with any part of the country.

Q. What makes Salt Lake salt? E. K. H.

A. The water of the Great Salt Lake is a natural brine. It contains from fourteen to twenty-three per cent of saline constituent, according to the level of the lake. The chief rivers feeding the Great Salt Lake are the Jordan, the Weber, and the Bear. The last is four hundred miles long, but its mouth is only ninety miles from its source. These waters contain so little salt it can not be discovered by taste. But the Great Salt Lake has no outlet, so the waters brought to it evaporate and the solid matters which are dissolved in them remain. That is why the lake is salt.

Q. Why were the cedars of Lebanon remarkable enough to find a place in literature? O. R. P.

A. The cedars of Lebanon were the tallest trees known in Biblical times and reference to them were on account of their height and strength.

Q. Are substitutes for lumber being made? C. G. D.

A. There are three such substitutes being made; one of bagasse, and two from wood fiber. The properties of these synthetic boards are much different from those of ordinary lumber. The material is not usually so hard and is of a more porous and open texture. It is claimed by manufacturers of these materials that when used in certain ways it develops satisfactory strength. For instance, it is used for sheathing for houses. The bracing effect of the large pieces nailed to the studding is claimed to be about as good as where diagonal sheathing is used. It is apparently a better insulator for open texture. The material is not so strong as wood in bending. Another advantage for it is that it can be obtained in large sheets which for many purposes is quite worth while.

Q. Has there ever been a baseball game played during a storm? B. A. M.

A. The concluding championship game on September 27, 1881 between Troy and Chicago was played in the rain. The game was called off at the end of the season. The ball was so slippery and the ground was so muddy that the game was a farce. About a dozen persons paid to see the game.

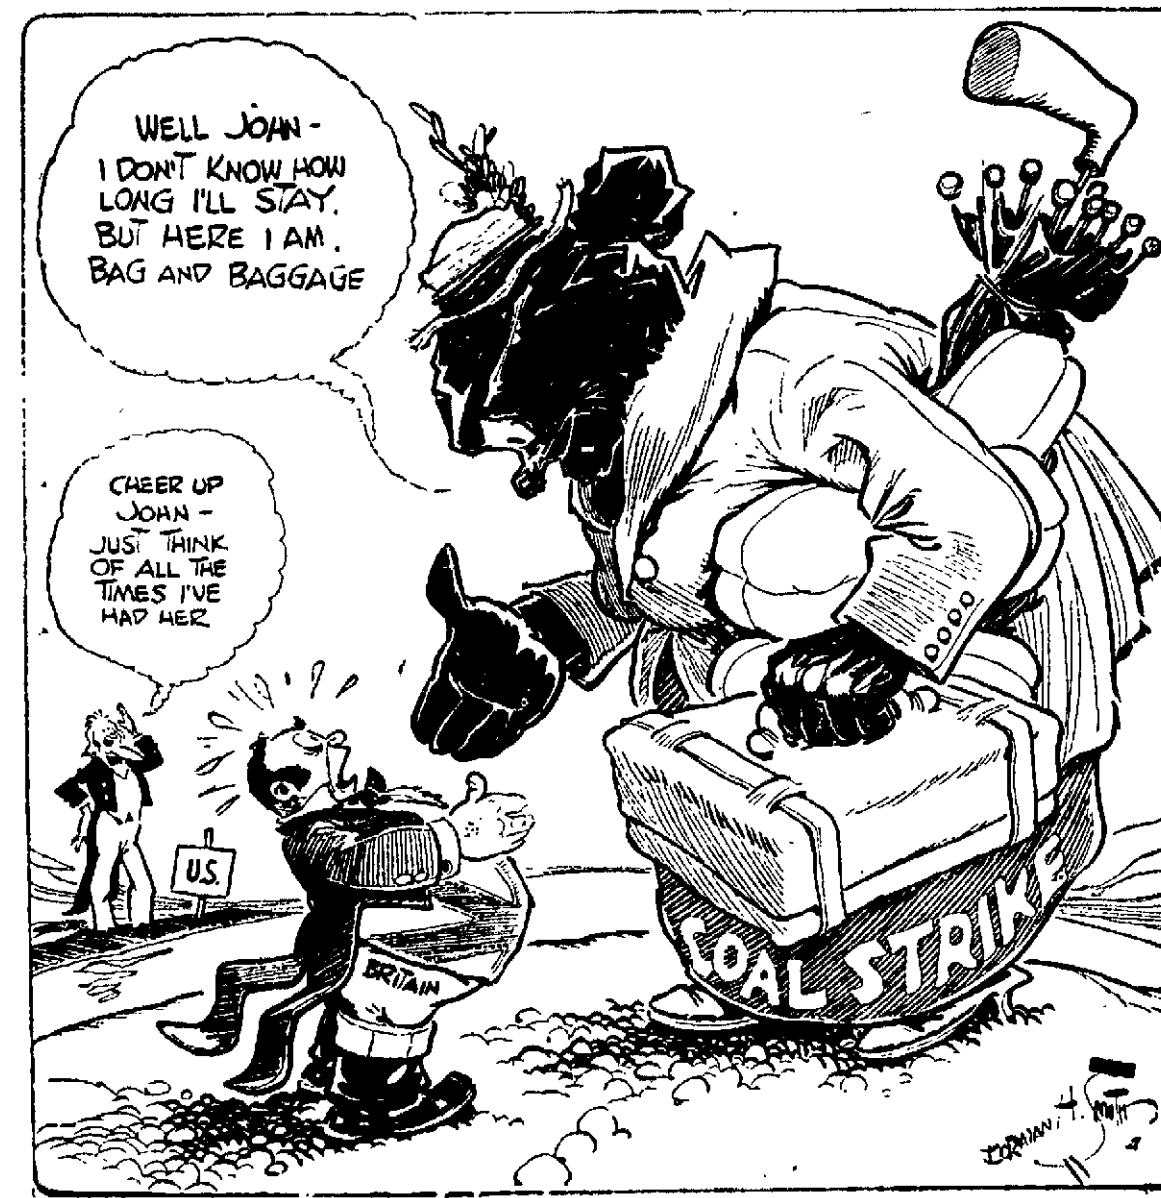

Q. What kind of wheat is used for making macaroni? B. W.

A. The bulk of the durum wheat crop is used for macaroni. Amber durum is the best. Farina is used by one manufacturer. Farina consists of the purified middlings from hard wheat.

Q. When were the laws of auction bridge last revised? L. B. E.

A. Milton C. Work, chairman of the card committee of the Whist club of New York says that the law of auction bridge, which became effective September 1, 1920, are still in force.

THE UNWELCOME GUEST

There will probably be a new code in April of this year.

Q. Is it true that the front wheels of automobiles "tee in" slightly? M. H. C.

A. The front wheels of automobiles are adjusted so that they have a very slight angle. This is known as "cambering," and is done to make steering easier. It makes the center line spindle bolt coincide as near as is practical with center of contact of the tire with the ground. The slant is usually not more than two degrees or about 2½ inches for 34 inch wheels.

Q. What coal is known as "Pittsburgh coal"? C. A. B.

A. The Bureau of mines says that coal mined in Pittsburgh and Sewickley seams is called "Pittsburgh coal." It is mined in Greene, Washington, Allegheny, and Westmoreland counties, within a radius of 60 miles.

Q. What percentage of homes have radio sets? J. K.

A. The New York Edison company says that one out of every three families in New York city and one out of every five families in the rest of the United States owns a radio set. Radio sales have increased from $5,000,000 to more than $500,000,000 in the last five years; and almost $15,000,000 was spent on broadcasting programs during the past year.

Q. How many feet of lumber does it take to make a ton of newspaper? D. E.

A. Since the customary units of wood measurement—cord, log measure or lumber scale—do not represent an exact quantity, the cubic foot solid wood is used. Even this unit is variable as to pulp yield according to the character of the wood as to species and rate of growth. However taking the dry weight of spruce as 2½ pounds per cubic foot, the commercial yield of 10 feet would be about 230 pounds of mechanical pulp, and a sulphite pulp, 1000 pounds. Commercially, newsprint is made from a mixture of 75 per cent mechanics and 25 per cent sulphite. Consequently, a ton of newspaper would contain 1500 pounds and 500 pounds sulphite. Then 1500 pounds mechanical would require 66.2 cubic feet wood; 500 pounds sulphite would require 48 pounds wood. A ton newspaper would require 113.7 cubic feet or 2728 pounds oven dry spruce wood.

Q. Has the Einstein theory really been discredited? N. K.

A. The recently published results of the experiments of Dr. Clayton C. Miller of Cleveland, Ohio, do not necessarily overthrow the Einstein theory, but will probably cause it to be modified. Certain corrections have to be made in the equations of the Einstein theory, and its survival will depend on the results.

Q. What is Melba's full name? F. E.

A. Melba's own name is Nellie Pöter Armstrong. Her father was David Mitchell, and her husband Carl Charles Armstrong. She first appeared as Melba on October 12, 1887, at Melbourne, Australia, near which she was born.

Q. When is "child health" day? J. H.

A. May Day has been observed for three years as a national festival for children. On May 1, each community is urged to examine into the well being of its children and set in motion some endeavor toward lifting their standard toward that of perfect childhood.

Q. Who discovered that fleas could be trained? J. H.

A. Training fleas is the hobby of Prof. J. C. Ruhl of New York. Fleas can be trained to dance, draw chariot races, objects, many times their weight, etc. The first trained fleas were exhibited by Prof. Ruhl's grandfather in 1821.

Q. Why was the northern boundary of Louisiana fixed where it is? W.

A. The entire territory comprised the Louisiana Purchase was of great extent to be erected into a single State. It was therefore divided to comprise a number of States. The Act of March 26, 1804, erected the territory of Orleans, which was south of the 33rd parallel.

Q. What is included in home economics? J. M. S.

A. Home economics represents a coordination of several kinds of specialized knowledge and skill in their application to the common needs of daily life. These are: a knowledge of nutrition and food preparation; a knowledge of textiles and the hygiene and art of clothing; a knowledge of sanitation; principles of house decoration; household and institutional management; a knowledge of child care.

11 Students Take Part In Recital

D. I'S GIVE SPRING FORMAL AT ELK CLUB

Miniature electric irons in leather cases, for use while traveling or by girls in dormitories were given as favors at the spring formal of Delta Epsilon at Lawrence college Friday night. The club was furnished by Holman's orchestra. Oshkosh. The porch of the club was decorated to represent a living room. Chaperones at the party were Dr. and Mrs. D. O. Kinsman, Prof. and Mrs. Fred Tresize and Mr. and Mrs. Kingsbury. Guests included Gertrude Kubitz, Henry Esch, Jack Markam and John Eche of Manitowish. Norman Le, Rose of Chicago, Richard Evans and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Singer of Milwaukee and Donald Morrissey and Miss Mary Bennett of Appleton.

FORTY ATTEND MOTHER'S DAY CHURCH DINNER

Forty mothers and daughters of the congregational church attended the Mother's day banquet sponsored by the Christian Endeavor society Friday evening at the church. The dining room was decorated in pink and green. Sweet peas were given each guest as a favor. The banquet was served by boys of the Baraca class. Mrs. T. E. Orison was toastmistress at the banquet. Talks were given by Miss Ruth Dawes on "What Mother Means to Me" and Mrs. J. W. Wilson on "The Best Kind of a Daughter." A reading "My Mother's Soft Place" from Margaret Ogilvie by J. M. Barrie was given by Miss H. L. Peabody. Miss Eleanor McKibbin sang a song.

SCOUTS GET LAST PLANET LESSON

Girl Scouts of Appleton Women's club who have been taking elementary instructions in astronomy the last few weeks under the direction of Prof. C. E. Farmer of Lawrence college will meet for their final lesson in stargazing Monday evening at Underwood observatory. The girls who complete the study of the planets will have a number of points added to their scoutcraft record.

The meeting of the Friendship class of the Methodist church has been changed from Monday to Wednesday when a picnic and baseball game will be held at the park. The baseball game will start at 8:15 followed by the winner roast at 7:15. All men of the church are invited. Preparations have been made for special music at the Friendship class meeting in honor of Mother's day at 9:45 Sunday morning. Lillian Rosebush will lead the class and solos will be sung by George Nixon and Carl McKee.

A committee consisting of Otto Tilly, C. Reitor, R. Krahbe, George Waldo, and Fred Ernst was appointed at the meeting of the Brotherhood of First English Lutheran church Friday evening at the church to make preparations for a basket picnic to be held the early part of June at Pierce park. One of the features of the picnic will be a baseball game between the boys and girls.

Mrs. T. H. Elmer, 1320 N. Oneida, entertained members of Circle No. 12 of the Congregational church Thursday afternoon at a social meeting. The tea which was to have been given at the Congregational church by the circle next Tuesday has been postponed until a later date. Mrs. Charles Maesch is captain of the circle.

EXTEND VISIT CONTEST FOR GIRL SCOUTS

Because members of the girl scout council of Appleton Women's club have been unable to visit the various scout troops as often as originally planned, the troop visitation contest which began April 5 and was to have closed May 7 has been extended for about two weeks to give ample time to complete the visits and check up on the points of each troop. Troops are visited at least twice during the month by members of the scout council and are rated on standards set by the council at its meeting. Points will be awarded on a basis of attendance, payment of dues, leaders attendance at council meetings, registration of members at national girl scout headquarters and the patrol system of the troops.

WISCONSIN WEATHER
Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday, probably showers in west portion; not much change in temperature.

WEATHER CONDITIONS
High pressure and fair weather continue over the eastern half of the country, though the crest of the "High" is decreasing somewhat. The lower pressure over the plain states is stagnant and is attended by local showers over the Missouri valley and westward. The indications appear to be that the present condition will persist over the weekend to a large extent at least, and generally fair and warm weather may be expected in this section, probably becoming slowly unsettled.

MOTHERS OF HI-Y BOYS TO BE DINNER GUESTS

Carlton Roth, Clement Steidl, Aloysius Gage, Ted Meyer, Franklin Werner and Charles Peerenboom, former members of the Sophomore Triangle club were initiated into the Hi-Y club at the meeting Friday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Installation of club officers was postponed until next Tuesday evening because of the high school district extemporaneous contest which was held at Oshkosh.

PLAYS HERE

WALTER LARSEN

Walter Larsen, violinist, and director of the Larsen Conservatory of Music at Green Bay, is to appear with the Larsen trio in musical services at First Methodist church at 4:30 Sunday afternoon. Other members of the trio are Josephine Cleary, pianist and Louise Smith, cellist.

MOTHERS' DAY BOOMS BUSINESS AT POSTOFFICE

"A little Christmas" is the way in which H. J. Franck, assistant postmaster, characterizes Mother's day rush at the postoffice. Friday was a busy day but Saturday morning found the postal clerks and carriers fairly swamped with parcels and letters.

Special delivery packages and letters are coming in large numbers with every mail and will continue through Saturday and Sunday, Mr. Franck said. Many persons want their Mother's day mail to reach home on Sunday, and special delivery messengers will be busy during the day.

POSTPONE TRIAL OF AUTOMOBILE DRIVER

The case of Ed Sams, who was arrested late in April on a charge of driving an automobile while he was intoxicated will be heard in municipal court Saturday. May 15 Sams was taken into custody on complaint of Alfred Hintz, Kaukauna druggist after his car had struck the Hintz machine on the Appleton-Little (Route road). Sams has settled for damages caused the Hintz automobile, about $150. He pleaded not guilty in municipal court April 28, and his case was adjourned until May 8. Postponement of the trial until May 15 was made necessary by other court cases.

Zona Gale To Read To Club Here

Zona Gale of Portage, one of Wisconsin's best known and most widely read authors will speak on Novels Written and Unwritten and will read from her own published and unpublished writings at the final Appleton Women's club meeting of the season next Thursday evening at Hotel Appleton. The meeting will be preceded by a banquet at 6:15.

Mrs. Mabel Shannon, president of the club, will give a report of the year's work. Other reports will be printed and given to each member attending the meeting. The banquet is for all members of the club.

Reservations should be sent in to the club rooms not later than Tuesday.

WARN VETERANS OF SWINDLERS

Pensioned Soldiers and Their Widows Are Victims of Crooks

Swindlers who claim to be government officers are preying on pensioned veterans and their widows, a warning by Winfield Scott, United States commissioner of pensions, states.

Recent reports indicate that swindlers of the type described are successfully operating in several states, including Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, according to a statement of the commissioner received at the postoffice here, and which is being sent to pensioners. They call on pensioners, representing themselves as employers of the pension office, or claiming to be eye specialists equipped with instruments for testing vision.

The statement adds: "Without spectacles are sold by them for a large price with the understanding that the pensioner will receive an increase in his pension or he is told that the agent will, in consideration of money paid, secured favorable action on a claim for increase of pension."

Pensioners who are approached by such agents are asked to notify the sheriff or police authorities.

One of the pseudo agents of the pension bureau, who has often given the name of Dr. Evans or Dr. Roberts is described as about 57, and weighing about 200 pounds. He is 5 feet 10 inches tall, is light complexioned and has a peculiar protruding under lip when speaking.

Pay Tribute to Your MOTHER

There is something in the lives of our Mothers—a something which sustains them through all manner of troubles and difficulties and pain—a something that brightens their faces, that keeps them beautiful.

It is a something that is most worthwhile, and it can be expressed in one word—FAITH.

Nearly everyone is familiar with Baroness Von Hutten's statement about Mother, but it is worth repeating: "Mother works for you, looks after you, loves you, forgives you, anything you may do, understands you, and then the only thing bad she ever does to you is to die and leave you."

Right living, right thinking, Faith—these come from practice, as do all things in life. We develop this something—this beautiful sustaining Faith—through practice. CHURCH ATTENDANCE is one of the things necessary. Pay your tribute, to Mother by attending Church tomorrow. You never did get anywhere without starting, did you?

PLUMBERS MUST KNOW TRADE TO START BUSINESS

Modern Plumbing Regulations Decrease Toll of Contagious Diseases

Up to date sanitary plumbing is responsible for much of the reduction in typhoid fever, scarlet fever and other contagious diseases in recent years, according to William Wenzel of Wenzel Bros. Inc., Appleton plumbing establishment at 406 W. College-ave. In former days anyone was permitted to install plumbing fixtures regardless of his ability to do the job in a sanitary manner and regardless of whether he had any former experience in plumbing or any other qualifications which might enable him to do a fairly good job.

Now, this condition has been radically changed for the better. A plumber must pass a thorough examination and obtain a license from year to year to lawfully engage in the plumbing trade. Not only have these rigid qualifications been established for everyone engaged in the trade but every plumbing job must be carefully inspected by a local or state inspector before it can be placed in operation.

Among the old fixtures which encouraged filth and disease was the flat topped sink made of tin or galvanized iron with its wooden frame and inadequate drain which often became clogged causing sewer gas to form and penetrate through the entire home spreading filth and contagion everywhere. The old fixtures were not properly trapped and vented and the joints were often poorly welded causing leakage and inefficient draining systems. These conditions all combine in making it a simple matter for waste and sewage to back up into the pipes and water system of a home. Typhoid and scarlet fever were the most frequent results and these two dread diseases have been reduced to a low level since the adoption and growth of up to date plumbing methods.

Plumbing legislation which made necessary a uniform test for all plumbers and the inspection of plumbing jobs by state workers employed solely for this purpose was first introduced in Wisconsin about 15 years ago according to Mr. Wenzel. All work today must undergo what is known as the water test before being accepted. This tests the strength of joints and the features of the work to be sure there is no leakage which will invite disease germs.

There are still many people in Appleton who do not seem to realize the importance of sanitary plumbing work and up to date fixtures as the surest road to health. Mr. Wenzel said. Members of a family become sick and at a loss to discover the cause but they very seldom think of looking over their plumbing as a possible and likely cause, it was said.

Wenzel Bros. Inc. sell Kohler plumbing fixtures manufactured at Kohler, Wis. The beautiful Kohler built in bath tubs are becoming more and more popular as the standard equipment of modern, clean and neat American homes according to Mr. Wenzel.

FADEOUT CLINCH NOW FAVORED BY JAPANESE

Tokyo (AP)—Not so long ago the Japanese motion picture censors permitted no picture to be shown in which there was a kissing episode. The censors' scenes were removed and has always been considered extremely immoral of late months however the censors influenced by the public have become more liberal. Now the kiss and become are permitted to clinch in the western fashion and a brief kiss is allowable. But it must be brief for if the scene becomes too ardent the censors will start using their scissors.

Home office pictures show that the love motif in moving pictures is gaining in popularity among the Japanese fans. A report discloses that last year more of the "heart interest" pictures were imported into Japan.

Wall Street Is Subject To Main Street, Babson Says

Babson Park, Florida — Roger W. Babson was today interviewed as to the stock market and business. Many believe that when the stock market goes down, business must necessarily go down. Mr. Babson believes this is a fallacy. Statistics, however, seem to show that there is a relation between the stock market and general business. This relationship, Mr. Babson today discusses as follows:

"The prevalent idea that the stock market always discounts general business is like saying that all the country follows Wall Street. We know this is an error. The stock market is one barometer of business, but it is only one of several and surely is not more important than bank clearings, employment statistics, crop reports and other factors. Moreover, money rates and commodity prices are probably more important factors in determining business conditions than all the stock market of the world combined. Business conditions determine the stock market. Speculators think business is to decline and sell stocks. If business does decline, they keep selling stocks, but if business does not, then they again buy stocks and there is a rally. That's all there is to the idea. Main Street should determine what happens on Wall Street. Wall Street need not determine what happens on Main Street."

"Wall Street is as necessary to this country as a country store is necessary to a community. Wall Street, however, creates nothing and at most only reflects conditions. When I wish to forecast business conditions, I never go to Wall Street, but I go to the great Central West. There I can talk with the farmers who are quietly but constantly producing the wealth which not only feeds Wall Street but most of the manufacturers and merchants of the nation as well. We give too much thought to spectacular Wall Street, and too little to those great industries upon which America absolutely depends for its food, clothing, shelter and general prosperity."

HOW WALL STREET HURTS
"I go further and say that the man who holds no stocks and bonds is today giving no thought to Wall Street. But in connection with this statement I must add that the man who does hold securities is giving thought to Wall Street and that there are today more of such men than ever before. Not only are these latter men watching the stock market today, when they formerly did not, but they must be more or less sentimentally affected thereby. When one sees the market value of his securities declining, he naturally is more economical in his purchases and his commitments than when he sees the value of his securities increasing. Furthermore, the man who is holding securities on margin or in bank loans, then he is being called upon for additional margins. This requires cash for Wall Street which otherwise would be spent on Main Street."

"Moreover, Wall Street has in this way been a much greater factor since the war than ever before. The war bonds and stocks were sold west of the Ohio River before the war. Chicago, St. Louis and other western centers speculated in grain, cotton and other commodities. A few bond houses and stock exchange firms had branch offices in these cities. These branches nevertheless were not very profitable. The World War, however, not only made the great Central West prosperous but it taught this section to buy bonds. The Liberty Bond Campaigns were great educators. What-ever the financial leaders and railroad officials may think of William G. McAdoo they also owe him untold gratitude for teaching the American people to buy bonds, especially after these financial interests told McAdoo that it could not be done, well it was done and we today are reaping both the advantages and disadvantages thereof."

AVOID MARGIN ACCOUNTS
"As we are today reaping certain disadvantages from the popularization of stocks and bonds because the more people interested in Wall Street the more pessimism everywhere. When Wall Street is blue. During the past few weeks Wall Street has written and telegraphed to every city and town in the country for money to make good margins. When this margin money has been sent, the locality has lost money which would otherwise be used for purchasing labor, raw materials and merchandise. When the margin money has not been sent, then the local farmer or merchant has been 'tapped out' and has thus suffered a real loss. Naturally such men are not good prospects for salesmen of merchandise. Moreover they are forced to postpone building that new house or store which they had been planning to build with their savings plus their Wall Street profits."

"All of this means that business men should avoid margin accounts. A business man is wise in actually withdrawing each year a portion of his profits and setting down this portion in real concrete securities. This is both good business and good insurance. It is wise to have some of one's eggs in another basket. But there is a great difference between investing one's surplus and speculating. The business man has no right to withdraw funds from his business or borrow money for speculation. Not only is he thereby risking needed capital but speculating causes him to worry and greatly reduces his efficiency in other ways. In this age of competition and specialization a man to succeed in business must concentrate on his own line without any side lines or distractions."

IMMEDIATE OUTLOOK
"The outlook for the stock market is not good. Prices of most stocks are abnormally high and these high prices are not justified either by assets or earnings. This statement, however, need not apply to general business. While every section and industry must, to some extent, suffer from the recent stock market collapse, yet feeding clothing and sheltering 116,000,000 people, to say nothing of foreign trade—is some job there still should be plenty of business for those who desire it. On the other hand, while the volume of general business continues well above normal the trend in activity, prices, and earnings is now downward. Compared with a year ago a number of basic barometers appear increasingly unfavorable. Practically all groups of commodities are declining in price. This includes building materials, notwithstanding that construction is proceeding near record levels. Farm purchasing power, an important factor is lower as a result of the decline in agricultural prices. This certainly will not help the purchasing power of the country as a whole. This is well indicated by the fact that such now stands at 9 per cent above normal compared with a high point of 15 per cent in January."

"There is, however, no justification for saying that business will soon be plunging into the depths of depression. Business has been good and in only a few instances has inflation predominated. What is now going on in trade is a more healthy stabilization. Main Street prices however, in the main, ward whiff of the past year far out-pace the business improvement. This is especially true of the industrials and it is only to be expected that a recognition of real conditions has brought about a sober estimate of values with consequent break in highly inflated stock prices. There will be no selling in this declining stock market movement is still unquestioned, but before the year is over I believe investors will have further opportunities to buy at still lower prices."

LUMBER DEMAND STILL IS SHORT OF NORMAL

Demand for lumber has not reached its seasonal volume. Production in general has been increasing during the last two weeks of good weather, but at many important centers there are building wage controversies that restrict trade as at Chicago, Cleveland, San Francisco and Los Angeles while at other points labor agreements have not been reached. The factors of spring and summer development of city demand also delayed agricultural work and farmers in most sections will have to put aside plans for much needed construction until their complete seedling. On the other hand, says the American Lumberman, Chicago, western and northern pine groups of manufacturers that long winter and frozen sawing in spring are now going into heavier production. In view of all the factors it is encouraging to note that orders fell only a per cent below production of the principal softwood mills during the week ended April 21 while shipments exceeded production by 4 per cent. During the first sixteen weeks of the year ending on the same date, bookings were 6 per cent above production.

Southern pine mills during the week received orders for 93 per cent above their production, but a large part of business is coming from the southern states, though volume of orders from the north and east has been increasing.

PRINTING SHOP PUTS GUARANTEE ON ALL ITS JOBS

Advises Business Firms to Secure Attractive Letter Heads

A neat and attractive printing job on office letter heads and advertising matter is certain to be an aid in bringing increased business and profits to any concern. Such a job is guaranteed at the Peterson and Bauer printing shop on 118 S. Appleton-St. These printers have established a reputation in Appleton and the central Fox River valley of satisfying the customers with the work they turn out and are making good on this reputation daily.

Something comparatively new in the printing field is the weekly church bulletins which are now issued by the larger churches of the city. These bulletins usually are announcements of the church services for the day and announcements of activities of all the church societies and special events during each day of the week. They are an invaluable aid in rapidly checking over the entire weekly church program and also are ideal for filling purposes as they take up very little room. Peterson and Bauer print practically all bulletins for churches of the city and are developing and expanding this field of work every year.

Almost every entertainment and amateur theatrical, no matter how small or trivial should have a printed program. A neatly printed program finds its way into memory. A memory book and stays on through out the years as the reminder of some pleasing little entertainment which without the printed evidence would have been soon forgotten. One of the specialties of the Peterson and Bauer printshop is the making of such programs. Only a simple single sheet leaflet is all that is necessary to add spice to any performance and the cost of printing a large quantity of these is so reasonable that it is well within the range of almost everybody's purse.

Other jobs in which the Peterson and Bauer printshop do a large amount of the city's print work include the making of tickets, dogtags and handbills and the printing of invitations. These printers keep a wide variety of type on hand and are well prepared to meet the demand for invitations for formal and informal affairs.

All printing work in the Peterson and Bauer shop is done directly by the proprietors themselves, Russell H. Peterson and Max Bauer, both long men of many years experience in the printing game.

ELLEN TERRY DOESN'T TRY TO CONCEAL AGE

London (AP)—Ellen Terry, knows the gentle art of growing old gracefully better perhaps, than any other celebrated Englishwoman.

She received a great ovation at the first night of the revival of "Much Ado About Nothing" in which Henry Arley and Madge Titherley had the roles of Benedick and Beatrice.

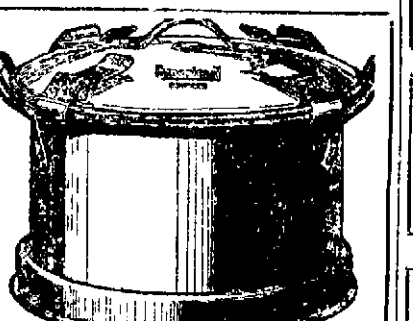

Ellen Terry was the Beatrice in Henry Irving's productions forty-four years ago and soon established her self as the greatest Beatrice England had known. Consequently the appearance of the venerable actress in one of the boxes provoked prolonged applause which she acknowledged with much grace.

Ellen Terry has made no attempt to conceal her years. Her hair is silver white and she usually wears a lace scarf about her head and dresses in black or soft grays. "This is a beautiful grandmotherly person who in her old age retains all the dignity and charm which made her England's foremost actress."

When Arley was called before the curtain at the end of the performance he turned to Mrs. Terry, bowed and expressed the pride his company felt in performing in her presence.

DOLLS OF ALL NATIONS COLLECTED BY MRS. KENDALL

To be in style at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., the co-ed must wear suspenders. The cat that is looking at these is doubtless thinking of the old quip, "The Cat's suspenders."

Mrs. W. Kendall Evans, who went all the way around the world to collect dolls, and some of her collection. Top, left to right, a lady of Hongkong, a maid of Bombay, a belle of Naples, and a beauty of Rome, bottom a puppet of Java, a bride of Ceylon, a miss of Japan and a matron of Shanghai.

These men are both past sixty but are still going to school. G. B. Baker, of Oklahoma City, Okla. (above) is learning the machinist trade in a night high school there, at the age of 65. Adam Berry, 70, (below) sold his Iowa farm at the age of seventy and is in the 7th grade in a Council Bluffs school. He plans to go through high school and then go to Harvard University.

No, this picture wasn't taken in Paris. It was taken at San Antonio, Tex., during the pageant of the Court of Jewels, which features the annual celebration of the battle of San Jacinto, when Texas won its independence from Mexico. The girl is Miss Lily Beal Frost, Duchess of Fire Opals.

Here's a case where east and west can't meet—unless east stoops a rod or so. Robert Dollar (left) Pacific shipping magnate, is shown with J. Y. Chung, giant Chinese, who came to San Francisco on one of Mr. Dollar's ships looking for a movie job. Chung is seven feet eight inches tall. NEA Service San Francisco Bureau.

William H. Henderson, 21, of Fresno, Calif., will carry on for the late Luther Burbank, famous horticulturist. Burbank trained him for four years, revealed his secrets to him and asked that he work with Burbank's assistant, B. Berrino, after Burbank's death. Henderson is shown examining a torch lily, one of Burbank's latest creations.

This picture, transmitted by radio and telephoto, is of a stream of lava from Mt. Mauna Loa, Hawaii, engulfing a house in Hoopuloa, a village that was completely wiped out by the eruption. The photo is the first ever transmitted commercially by radio. The artist's conception of the scene, left, is based on cable dispatches and the radioed picture. The picture is forerunner of a photo transmitting process—now in infancy—that may eventually circle the world by air.

A motorist was instantly killed and two axitors were hurt when an airplane went into a tailspin over Colorado Springs, Colo., and fell into the center of one of the main streets landing squarely on top of an automobile. Photo shows the crowd surrounding the wreckage of the plane and automobile, arrow points to the spot where lifeless body of the motorist, Richard Ragan, was found shortly after this picture was taken.

Here is a remarkable picture from one of the Chinese war zones. In a prominent part of the market place at Chengchow, in the Honan Province of China, this head of a looter was displayed as a warning that a similar fate would be out to others who attempted to pillage in this section, where Red and anti-Red Chinese forces have been fighting desperately. In the background, Chinese street merchants can be seen carrying on business as usual.

For the first time in history a regular soda fountain has been installed in a railroad train. The train is the Northern Pacific Railway's new North Coast Limited, a de luxe flyer running between Chicago and Seattle.

APPLETON MAN
TALKS AT STATE
GAME CONCLAVE

Rothschild to Discuss Industrial Pollution of Water

H. A. Rothschild of Appleton, will speak on Water Pollution from the industrial side at the fourteenth annual convention of the Wisconsin Game Protective Association at Stevens Point May 11 and 12. Dr. J. A. Holmes, pastor of First Methodist church, one of the directors of the association, also will attend the meeting.

The Izaak Walton League of Stevens Point will be hosts to the convention. It is expected that a large delegation from Appleton will be present at the convention also.

A. L. Wolfe of Racine, a former resident of Appleton and secretary-treasurer of the association will give his annual reports.

Among the prominent speakers on the program are Elmer S. Hall, state conservation commissioner who will tell of the accomplishments of conservation in the last four years; Professor Carl A. Rudstam of Ashland will address the meeting on "The Struggle for Conservation in Wisconsin: The Past and the Present of Water Pollution and Enrichment" will be the subject of a talk by Adolph Kannenberg of Madison. Mr. Rothschild of Appleton will answer this address by giving the industrial view of water pollution.

The Trail's End will be the subject of an address by Fred W. Lennig of Milwaukee. Charles S. Krumm of Manitowish will talk on "The Economics of Politics in Conservation." Conservation and a Definite Conservation Program will be the topic of Burt Williams, president of Land o' Lakes, of Milwaukee. A. J. Nelson of Eau Claire will tell how, in the absence of state support, law violations can be stopped.

Election of officers will be held on Wednesday.

CATLIN PLACES FIFTH IN SPEAKING CONTEST

John Catlin, winner of the Hyde extemporaneous speaking contest, held Wednesday evening in Appleton high school, took fifth place in the Fox River Valley Forensic League contest Friday evening at Oshkosh high school. Two of the judges gave Catlin third and fourth places respectively in the till but the third placed him last on the list, thereby bringing him down to fifth place in the final rating. Robert Hermann, the Sheboygan high school representative won the district contest and the "East Green" Bay representative placed second.

Appleton, Oshkosh, East Green Bay, West Green Bay, Sheboygan, Manitowish, Fond du Lac and Marinette high schools each entered a representative in the contest.

DOCTOR SENDS DUN FOR SERVICES TO HIS HOST

New York (AP)—A doctor who called at his home for dinner and "a glass of grog" only to leave and send in a bill for minor services rendered while there, did not merit the approval of General Andrew Jackson.

In the Americana collection of the late William Green Shillaber of Boston, sold at auction here, was a physician's bill to the general. On the back, Jackson made this notation:

"Receipt in full of an extraordinary and unjust acct. called to take dinner in a glass of grog on 3rd of July 1804, billed Mrs. J. & charge $8. No medicine was given."

IBIS TREADS HOME IN MUD

The home-making of the ibis in Australia entails the treading down of mud to the mud. Each year thousands of the birds gather at the junction of the Lachlan and Murrumbidgee rivers and make their nests. The birds utter booming sounds heard for miles. The young are topheavy and subject to easy drowning.

Coal Mine Burns 67 Years;
Cost $3,000,000 To Fight

Summit Hill, Pa. (AP)—Anthracite strikes may come and go but, like Tennessee's brook, the Summit Hill mine fire apparently goes on forever.

It has been burning for seventy-seven years, ever since February 1859 and is the most destructive, expensive and famous mine fire in the history of mining in the United States.

The area involved is about one mile long and 1,500 feet wide. More than $3,000,000 have been expended in fighting the fire. The tonnage of coal consumed by this "king" of mine fires can only be guessed but estimates run as high as 14,000 tons.

The coal area embracing the scene of the fire is owned by the Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co., founded in 1820. Summit Hill lies in the Panther Creek Valley in what is known as the Schuylkill of lower coal field of the anthracite regions.

In the years since the fire first was discovered, many stories have been told of its origin. But the true story vouches for by the company, is that it was started through hot coals being mixed with ashes, the cause of many a fire in the homes of coal consumers.

It was common in the days before the Civil War to have large stoves at the bottom of the slopes for the comfort of the men. The "bottom man" at old No. 1 slope when the fire started was one Daniel Boyle. Among other things it was his duty to attend

Noted Harpist Plays With Symphony Orchestra Here

Among the attractions with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra
here next Wednesday is Henry J.
Williams, harpist.

It almost goes without saying that Williams is a Welshman. From time immemorial, the harp has been practically the sole property of the Welsh. Whether its origin was in Wales is a much discussed question. The fact remains that a Welshman plays a harp almost instinctively as a Frenchman the wood winds or a Hollander the cello.

Williams had a rather hard time of it at the start of his career, for he was the youngest of a large family of children, all of them musical and all of them of course, determined to play the harp. In fact, the Williams family had two instruments, but the small boy got few opportunities to test his natural ability. Instead, he was slated to play the violin, which he did very dutifully, surreptitiously trying to master the harp as well. Only after the older brothers and sisters left home did he have a real chance with his pet instrument.

So rapidly did he develop that he soon discarded the violin, and entered the Royal Academy of Music in London, under John Thomas, harpist to Queen Victoria and later to King Edward. Graduating with honors, he became a member of Sir Henry Wood's Orchestra in London. Between seasons he became a great favorite as a soloist in Scotland and Wales as well. His first visit to America so impressed him that he concluded to remain here. Since 1908 he has served as first harpist of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra.

NEED COLLEGE TRAINING IN PUBLISHING BUSINESS

"The courses you think are of least value now will prove most valuable to you when you get out of school," said Mr. George Banta, Jr., vice president and general manager of the Banta Publishing Company of Menasha, in a talk before members of the Lawrence College Press club on Thursday night.

Mr. Banta explained the work of publishing houses and outlined the opportunities for college journalists in that particular line. Mathematics, political science, and foreign languages are especially useful to would-be publishers. The material used in the various magazines is of such a nature that college trained students are practically the only ones able to understand it.

Mr. Banta was a student of Lawrence college but gave up his studies before graduating in order to take up the work in the publishing house which was then under the management of his father.

ROOSEVELT P. T. A. TO ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Election of officers for the coming year will be the principal business at the final meeting of the Roosevelt Parent-Teachers meeting Monday evening at Roosevelt school. MILLER SAILS FOR
BRAZIL TO BUILD
NEW PULP MILL

South American Plant Will Make Paper from Eucalyptus

Roland N. Miller, former resident of this city, who recently won national fame in the paper manufacturing industry by completing an experiment at the Forest Products Laboratory in Madison to show the possibility of making paper from eucalyptus wood, sailed Saturday for Sao Paulo, Brazil, where he will supervise the construction of a large pulp and paper mill which will use eucalyptus in manufacturing paper.

The mill will be erected by the Companhia Paulista de Estradas de Ferro, one of the oldest railroads in Brazil. This concern owns many thousands of acres in eucalyptus timber land.

The practicability of making newsprint out of eucalyptus will solve for many years the problem of the diminishing forest supply in this country for pulp and paper manufacture, it is thought. There is a great abundance of eucalyptus in the immense Brazilian forests and jungles.

Mr. Miller will remain in Appleton until December when Mr. Miller will return to the United States to purchase machinery and equipment for the new mill. Mr. Miller left Madison Tuesday for New York. He sailed on the steamer, Western World.

Violators of Parking Ordinances Top List of Offenders

Seventy-six arrests were made in April, according to the report of George T. Prim, chief of police, to the fire and police commission. Violators of the anti-parking ordinance at the postoffice were the most numerous, 24 offenders having been arrested on this charge. Three arrests were made for parking in front of theaters.

Fourteen speeders occupy second place among law-violators, and 11 arrests were made for drunkenness. Three drunken drivers were haled to

Simple Home Treatment That Is Giving Amazing Results

The world progresses. Today ailments that took weeks to cure can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunions you can start today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moore's Emerald Oil is a marvelous healing agent. One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications cause the eruptions to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in barber's itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin trouble.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you. Voigt's Drug Store sells lots of it.

Wealth Is Given Up For Career

By NEA Service.
Chicago — A million dollars won't make you happy.
Neither will jewels, a mansion, a retinue of servants and all the other trappings that limitless wealth can buy.
Mrs. Samuel Insull here will vouch for that.
She has access to the millions. Has the trappings. And she yields rare power in the most exclusive social circles of Chicago and New York.
Yes, despite all this, Mrs. Insull today is a working woman.
"Because," says she, "there are many things in life that count."
Mrs. Insull's husband is the richest public utility magnate in America.

The name of Samuel Insull spells for Chicago and several dozen other large western cities what Henry Ford's name spells to Detroit.
But Mrs. Insull has not found luxury alone to her taste. It left a void. And this void she is attempting to fill by a return to the same stage she deserted years ago to marry.

As Lady Teazel she is playing to capacity houses here matinee and evening in Richard Sheridan's "School for Scandal."
Quite flushed and a little out of breath following the end of the afternoon performance she was interviewed back stage.
"No," she said in reply to the question, "Social life is a thing apart. I enjoy it. I indulge in it. But it could never be the whole of my existence. There are other things in life that count."

"You know I was an actress before I married. I played juvenile roles when a very young girl. And once in creative work it is very hard to give it up.
"But now I may easily go into it. My son has grown to manhood and is in business with his father. But when I married and became a mother I abandoned the stage because, I think a mother's first duty is to her child—a far greater duty and responsibility than her own career."
However, I do believe in a married woman keeping up some degree in her work or profession, especially if it is at all creative."

SHOULD BUILD SHOPS TO MAKE WOMEN UGLY

By DAN THOMAS
Los Angeles — "One out of every five women tries to be ugly."
"This is a very astounding revelation, but nevertheless true," declares Mrs. Ruth J. Maurer, president of the National School of Cosmeticians.
"I have been studying women and how they may be beautified for more than 20 years. But it has been only during the last 15 months that I have been convinced many women actually try to see how ugly they can appear."
Perhaps there are women and even young girls who have exceptionally good reasons for wanting to be "frights." It may be they want to get rid of their husbands, or to escape the sheikhs on the boulevards. And it is possible some girls still retain the idea that beautiful girls are popular, but the ugly ones capture good husbands and good homes.
"It seems incredible that feminine nature will stand for the desire to be ugly," says Mrs. Maurer. "But that is a personal matter and I believe beauty shops should be established in which women may be made ugly."

FASHION HINTS

WIDER AND WIDER
Skirts, except for those on period gowns continue to be short and full. Never has pleating been more popular.

LIGHT FOOTWEAR
Snakeskin shoes are quite the rage, particularly in tan and gray. Lizard and alligator are also brought out in these delicate tones.

VERY FEMININE
The use of ribbon, particularly grosgrain and the watered effects is seen repeatedly on chiffon and georgette frocks. There is a tendency to have the ribbon a shade lighter or a shade darker than the frock.

PUMPS FOR EVENING
Novelty pumps for this season frequently have embroidery overlaid across the vamp and running up and down the heels which have become unbelievably high.

FLOWERS OF CLOTH
Some of the new cloth coats show interesting treatments that feminize and intrigue. One is the use of flowers, made of the material forming the collar or perched on the shoulder.

SPECKLED BANDS
A band of snakeskin is frequently used as the hat band on a smart felt hat—and if one matches it with snakeskin pumps, so much the better.

NOTE OF CONTRAST
Bronze beads are used very effectively on a gown of pink georgette crepe.

SMALLER DOTS
Polka dots are the season's craze, and the most charming patterns show rather small dots very close together.

'PAGE BOY SILHOUETTE' MARKS NEW FROCKS; CAPE-COATS POPULAR

By HENRI BENDEL
Foremost New York Style Designer
(Written for NEA Service)

New York—The silhouette of the moment that is receiving a great deal of attention here and in Paris is called the "page boy," and places the flare just below the hips.

The inspiration came from page boy costumes worn in the French courts of long ago.

I am showing you one of the smart little street frocks for spring that illustrates the new mode. It is developed in navy blue silk with polka dots, and the flare is introduced in jumpers style over a slim skirt. The leather belt adds a distinctive note.

This page boy silhouette also is seen in some of the newest cloth suits that are to be worn this spring. It is very practical because the flared peplum can be manipulated so as to correct a figure that is too wide, or to suit the slim figure and emphasize the slender waistline.

THE CAPE COAT
Another popular model for spring is the cape-coat, and I feel quite sure it will maintain its present vogue throughout the season, and be adapted for afternoon and evening wraps as well.

When the cape forms an irregular outline, the slim silhouette is very pleasingly accented as in the model photographed, which is of blocked wool material in wood brown with a narrow collar and front panel of ermine.

Speaking of coats and wraps, I want to call your attention to the fact that color, though it has been in high favor all winter in Florida, will less elegant than black. Many of the smartest new models are of black with touches of fur or a huge collar of the fabric of the coat. Fur is not lavishly used, however, and the collars almost inevitably are narrow.

EVENING GOWNS
Regarding evening gowns it is more difficult to be specific and say just what is what. There is less novelty, and less opportunity for it.
As long as the sleeveless gown is in demand, one must depend on exquisite materials and chiffons treated in original fashion. A stunning motif of embroidery or jewels may be introduced in bizarre fashion, or the gown may be beaded or fringed in crystals.

I am inclined to believe crystals and pearls on evening gowns offer the most satisfactory sort of decoration. In the model photographed, the beaded and crystal tulle is worn over a silver slip with two skirt flounces slightly full, which help to give the desired slim contour so much sought by fashionable women.
This is a highly satisfactory type of evening gown since it has dignity and beauty and gives an effect of elaboration which does not compromise with good line and distinction.

At the left the polka-dotted street frock described in Henri Bendel's style article. In the center is one of the popular cape-coat models, and at the right an evening gown with beaded and crystal tulle to go over a silver slip.

IN DAYS OF OUR FOREFATHERS

Women Prepared Their Own Medicines

The wise pioneer women learned to gather, in woods and fields, the remedies the Indians used. From the rafters of colonial houses, hung great bunches of dried roots and herbs. From these, in times of sickness, the busy mother brewed simple and powerful remedies.
From roots and herbs, Lydia E. Pinkham, a descendant of these sturdy pioneers, made her Vegetable Compound. The beneficial effects of this dependable medicine are vouched for by hundreds of women who tell of returning health and energy.
Mrs. Wm. Kraft of 2833 Vinewood Ave., Detroit, Mich., saw a Pinkham advertisement in the "News" one day and made up her mind that she would give the Compound a trial. At that time she was very weak. "After the first bottle," she writes, "I began to feel better and like a new woman after taking six bottles. I recommend it to others and always keep a bottle in the house."
If Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped other women, why shouldn't it help you?

FEWER INJURIES IF PEOPLE USE COMMON SENSE

Just Use Ordinary Intelligence, Chief Prim Warns Drivers, Pedestrians

"If common sense were used at all times by both driver and pedestrian, automobile accidents would be reduced to a minimum," declared George T. Prim, chief of police.

"The best highway laws in the world become ineffective where they are not intelligently observed. Motorists and pedestrians should realize that they have an equal responsibility, and each should be able to depend upon the other to do the sensible thing."

"Many traffic accidents result when incautious persons step from street cars. Rather than wait 35 seconds for the street car to pass, these persons cross in front of the car, without looking toward their left, directly into the path of an automobile."

"When the motorist sees a pedestrian step carelessly into the road from behind a street car, usually about five or six feet ahead of his machine he has his choice of two acts—either to set his brakes in an attempt to come to a dead stop before he hits the person on the street; or to swerve suddenly toward the center of the road at the risk of being hit by the automobile behind him. Chances are about even that the pedestrian will move in the same direction and dodge into the machine that is trying to avoid him," Chief Prim pointed out.

MOVE WITH TRAFFIC
"To be safe in crossing streets, the pedestrian must always move in the same direction with the traffic—when the traffic moves east and west, the pedestrian should also move east and west; and when traffic moves north and south, the pedestrian should move north and south. He should always cross at corners—never in the middle of a block."

"Every motorist should have his car under absolute control at all times," Chief Prim stated. "He must always be prepared for the unexpected and ready to make a life and death decision in a fraction of a second."

"Numerous accidents are caused by drivers who speed between blocks and fail in their attempt to control their cars as they reach the corner."

"Accidents to children often result when parents release the hands of their kiddies and allow them to proceed them, or to trail along behind, while they are crossing the street."

"The person who doesn't look where he's going is another very common cause of accident—usually to himself. He crosses the busiest street with head bowed on his chest, paying no attention whatever to his surroundings. In consequence, either he is killed, or he makes a long stay at a hospital. The first thing every person who crosses the street should do is to stop, look and listen."

"The safest law at all times, as I've said before, is the rule of common sense," concluded Chief Prim.

USE YOUR BRAINS
"Mingle brains with your gas, oil and machinery," is the advice of Fred V. Heinemann, county judge.

"Among important things that every automobile driver should remember at all times, to insure safe driving and the safety of pedestrians are the following," Judge Heinemann suggests: "Everyone on the highway has the same right that you have, whether the other fellow is a foot, a wheel, or on horseback."

"You must watch the other fellow's movements as well as your own. Proper consideration for the safety of others demands that you keep

Keep Radio Aerials Off High Tension Poles, Warning

Few radio owners in Appleton, if any, have attached their antenna wires to power line poles, according to W. B. Montgomery, assistant manager of the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat & Power Co.

"From the beginning of radio installation in homes and business places we have refused to allow owners to attach their aerials to our poles, as the practice would be dangerous to all concerned," Mr. Montgomery pointed out.

"Employees of our company have done everything in their power to discourage the use of power poles for aerial attachment or to permit antenna wires to cross or run near the high voltage lines."

"A few aerials have crossed, and may still be crossing, below or above our wires. This practice is exceedingly dangerous. Should the wind accidentally break one of these wires or blow them into direct contact with one another, there would doubtless be an accident of a very serious nature," Mr. Montgomery declared.

"The public should investigate conditions about their homes and other buildings. Whenever a dangerous condition exists, the company should be notified."

WATCH EMPLOYEES

"Employers should occasionally follow their truck drivers and delivery boys, to get an idea of how they drive, and then tell their employees how they want their cars and trucks to be driven," Judge Heinemann suggests. "It will save them money and worry, and probably will save lives."

"Slow down and watch the road whenever you come near a school," is the plea of A. G. Meating, superintendent of county schools.

"Last year all schools in my jurisdiction began to give safety instructions during the civics period every Wednesday forenoon. We are continuing that instruction this year."

"These lessons, we hope, will make children careful about playing on the streets, and in crossing them, but children, at best, are irresponsible. When they become excited in play they are likely to forget the danger of being hit by an automobile."

"I earnestly urge every motorist to remember that every time he approaches a school, either in rural districts or in cities, the life of a child may depend upon his care and judgment," Mr. Meating said.

LIBRARY PATRONS BORROW 10,533 BOOKS IN APRIL

Nearly 350 Books Added to Library Shelves in Last Month

Appleton Library patrons borrowed 1,607 fewer books in April than were taken out during March. According to Miss Florence Day, librarian, March is always the heaviest month of the year. In March 12,140 books were taken from the library while 10,533 books were drawn in April.

Of the books taken out during April, the largest number 6,536 were fiction volumes. Adults drew 3,855 and children borrowed 2,681. In the non-fiction class the children drew the greatest number, 2,084 while the adults took only 1,592. Book lovers drew 208 unbound volumes during the month and 113 foreign books were borrowed.

There were 23,213 books in the library at the beginning of the month and 336 were added making a total of 23,549 books. Twenty-eight books were received by the library as gifts in April.

Perhaps the coming of hot weather also has something to do with the fact that there was a decrease of 39 in the number of borrowers registered at the library during the past month. While there were 131 new borrowers registered, there also

LETTER FROM MRS. MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT TO LESLIE PRESCOTT—CONTINUED

Evidently, little John did not understand when the actress said: "My darling, my darling, have you already begun to note the difference?" For he seemed as surprised as I was when tears rained on his head from the eyes of "my lovely lady," as he calls Miss Perier.

I must say right here Leslie, that I think this name very silly and when you come home I presume you will insist that the boy call the moving picture actress "Miss Perier" as he should do.

However, he now said: "Don't cry, my lovely lady," as he softly kissed her tears away. "Jackie loves you even if he does not love Grandma Prescott. Jackie loves you and my mother loves you. She told me so the other day, when she said you were coming to see me."

Miss Perier continued to cry, however, and the boy in her lap, tried harder to comfort her kissing her and patting her face and hair.

Of course, I knew this was all acting actresses to shed tears. She kept it up, however, until he said: "Don't cry, please. Don't cry. Jackie loves you better'n anybody but mother."

I wish you could have seen that woman. She might have been acting for the screen. She clasped that child so close to her he could hardly breathe, and I heard her say in a strangled sort of voice: "Love me always, next to mother for I do not love anyone in all the world but you."

Now, Leslie, you can easily see that Miss Perier was just rehearsing that scene so that if the time came right she could act it before my son.

I think it is very fortunate that I saw this because I can suggest some thing which I think you will see the reasonableness of immediately. If I were you I would arrange for her to adopt little John. She seems to have gone crazy over him—that will give you a chance to give your own boy, Sydney, his father's name and your great fortune.

I am leaving today for my old home or I would suggest it to John. I have been invited by Mrs. Bradford to visit with her for a week and I am very anxious to see how the people to whom I have rented my house are keeping it up.

I don't expect in answer to this letter but I do hope I have written in such a way that you will be brought to a realization of the importance of your home coming and putting your home in order.

Let Miss Perier have little John if she wants him.

Sincerely your mother,

MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT

QUICK AND QUIET, SAYS SCOTTY LIZARD

"We shall go to Scotty Lizard's house next," said Mister Tingling, the furry landlord, to the Twin.

"Where does he live?" asked Nick.

"Don't you know?" said Mister Tingling in surprise. "He lives over in the meadow under a big gray stone."

"Then he won't have to pay you rent, will he?" said Nancy. "If he just lives under a stone."

"Why of course he will," said Mister Tingling. "The stone is just his roof. When it's cold he wiggles down into the ground ever so far to keep warm. Besides it's a nice stone. I guess so it is! And he didn't live there, most likely someone else would besides I—Oh! But here we are, children. Right at Scotty's front door."

His front door," cried Nick. "Why it isn't big enough for a fly to crawl into. The big stone is lying flat on the ground."

Mister Tingling scratched his head.

"That's so," he nodded. "It does look pretty flat. And as I'm pretty round for a fairy, I don't believe I could get in. I'll just rap and have Scotty come out here."

So he went tap, tap tap with his knuckles on the big stone and before a frog could catch a fly, there was Scotty Lizard looking at them with his tiny black beady eyes.

"Hello here, old fellow," said Mister Tingling in surprise. "You don't make any more noise when you walk than a bunny that comes out of a silk hat in a truck show. You must wear rubber shoes."

Scotty smiled and blinked his black beady eyes. "I guess I'm getting pretty good," he said. "That's what Ma always tries to teach me. She said to be quick and quiet. All lizards learn that lesson first. But what can I do for you, Mister Fairyman?"

"Why? you see," said Mister Tingling, looking at Nick and Nancy. "It's the thirty-second day of the month and it's rent day."

Nancy opened the book pocketbook and held it out. "Yes we came for your rent," she said. "Put it in here and I'll give you a receipt for it."

But suddenly Nick cried out. "Why he's gone! You're just talking to the air, Nancy!"

"So he has! Where do you suppose he went to?" said Mister Tingling in a worried voice.

But this did not have to guess very long, for they heard Scotty say: "Aha! I'm getting pretty good. I think! How was that for 'quick and quiet'?" You never saw me go even."

"Where are you?" said Mister Tingling sharply. "Come here this minute. Mister Lizard and pay me your rent. It's ten cents in fairy money."

"Catch me if you can," called Scotty. "I'll bet you don't even know which stone I am under now."

Mister Tingling and the Twins looked hard. There were five stones all alike. "We'll find you," shouted the fairyman. "We'll turn every stone over until we find you."

But although they turned every stone over there was no lizard to be found and they had to leave without the rent money.

"How's that for 'quick and quiet'?" called Scotty after them. They turned and looked and there he sat on the very stone where they had first seen him.

But they didn't go back. What was the use? No! I don't know where he was either. He's too quick for me too. (To Be Continued.)

APPLETON HOST TO RACINE, MILWAUKEE NET MEN

Three Teams Which Tied For 1926 State Title In Milwaukee, Meet Here

Expected to Furnish Best Volleyball Ever Seen in State Net Circles

EVENING'S SCHEDULE
Milwaukee vs Racine.
Winner vs Appleton.
Loser of 1 vs Appleton.

The stage is all set for one of the best volleyball tournaments ever held in the state of Wisconsin Saturday evening at the Appleton Y. M. C. gymnasium when Racine, Appleton and Milwaukee, claimants of the 1926 state title meet to settle the matter. The three teams battled a complete series to a draw weeks ago at the Cream City and tied again in the playoff. They so evenly matched that each took a set from the others and fought the players were hardly able to breathe without reaching a timeout so the match should be the best in the state. The local "Y" invited the other teams here in an effort to break the tie each has a rightful claim to honor by being considered one of the three best squads in the state in the past records. Racine won the first three state meets since their inception in 1922 with Milwaukee unopposed in 1924 Appleton finished last year second when surprised Racine, the undefeated Milwaukee was first and Racine third. Members of the two visiting teams arrive in Appleton Saturday afternoon.

The meet will start at 6:30 in the evening with the state tournament committee consisting of members of Milwaukee "Y" in charge. They will direct the tournament at the Cream City and the meet Saturday night is a part of that affair.

Members of the first place team receive gold medals members of second place squad, silver medals, members of the third place squad, bronze medals furnished by the Milwaukee "Y". Two silver trophies donated by sporting goods houses one permanent cup and the other a traveling cup also will go to the winning team.

SENATORS, MACKS CONTINUE SPURT IN A. L. BATTLE

Bucky's Boys Trounce Sox and Groves Beats Browns to Hold Teams to Yank Heels

Chicago (AP)—Teams regarded as dangerous in the American League race are setting a dizzy pace with the New York Yankees after gaining a long lead by heavy hitting at the start of the season barely clinging to the leadership.

Washington's rush the Senators now have won six straight contests, has for the moment left Chicago behind and Philadelphia with five wins in a row is advancing at breakneck speed. Cleveland also remains a threat.

The Yankees cast off the shackles and won Friday from Detroit after eleven innings. T. G. Collins started a single run third base score Dugan from second. Twice the Tigers caught their opponents during the battle but never gained the lead. Babe Ruth scored his sixth home run in the first inning when with the count two and three, he lined to the right field stands.

Washington had little trouble in defeating the White Sox, 6-2, although Walter Johnson permitted ten safeties four of them for extra bases. The "Big Train" put on the "air" when trouble loomed except in the first when Chicago tallied twice. Goose Goslin had a perfect day at bat with three singles.

Philadelphia's margin over the St. Louis Browns was considerable for Tom Zachary, weakened in the eighth and three men crossed the plate. Lefty Groves allowed only six hits and won, 5-1.

The Boston Red Sox were victims of a 11-2 win dance performed by the Cleveland Indians. In the first two innings, seven Indians runners registered with Kiefer plunking. The wildness of the Boston moundman had much to do with the situation. Brooklyn retained its margin of leadership in the National League with Rubeen Grimes hurling masterfully to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-1. One of five hits were garnered by the Hornsby during the

MANY BIG MARKS SET ON IOWA U. CINDER COURSE WILL END CAGING

Big Ten Stars to Assault Fast Records on Speedy Track on May 28 and 29

Iowa City, Ia.—Fifteen feet of world's and Western Conference champions have been upon the track at the University of Iowa where the 1926 Big Ten track and field meet will be held on May 28 and 29.

World's and Big Ten marks have been set on the same resilient track upon which the middle western stars will race again.

Runners from many parts of the country have tried their speed here and have given the track their unqualified approval. Four eastern quarter milers two years ago were amazed that the middle west afforded a track which they classed as better than that at the Harvard Stadium pride of the Atlantic sea-board.

It was on the Iowa track that Charles R. Brooks, greatest of all hurdlers twice ran 23 for the 220-yard barriers on the straightway. The 100-yard record of the Big Ten, 19.7, was set here by Hays in Notre Dame in 1922. For 220-yards the best time is 21.2-10 made by Wilson, a Hawkeye runner.

Then when the Big Ten meet of 1922 was held on the Iowa track, Wolters of Iowa State won two remarkable middle distance victories—the quarter in 45 around the single curve and with a 250-yard straightaway and a half in 1:35. The quarter mile oval was cruised eight times by Schubert of Iowa State to set a conference two mile record of 8:27 that same year.

Records may fall again on the Hawkeye track. The Iowans are now grooming that scientific combination of clay and cinders with the hope that performances may again justify its reputation as one of the country's fastest.

Valley Conference Opposes Tournaments

WITH FINAL GAME OF REGULAR CARD

League Members Take Secrecy from Scouting: Adopt Uniform Cage Schedule

Vigorously opposing district basketball tournaments as detrimental to the high school students participating, representatives of eight Fox River Valley conference schools went on record Friday as opposing the annual tournaments at a meeting of the conference at Hotel Reliance at Fond du Lac.

Twenty-one coaches, principals and faculty athletic managers representing every school of the league were present. Principal H. N. Heible of Appleton high school, president of the league, presided. Frank Head of Manitowish was secretary and treasurer. Schools represented were Manitowish, Sheboygan, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Marinette, Appleton and East and West Green Bay.

Coaches and principals at the meeting said that the lapse of time between the regular season and the tournaments is injurious to the team and claimed that too much time was taken out of school by the team members and tournament followers. In fact the men opposed state tournaments of any kind including commercial, debating, speaking and band, as taking too much time from the school work. The primary purpose of a school valley conference schools, all of which have entered district meets and at least three of which have made the grade to the state meet for the last few years, will not be entrained in district meets if they are held next spring as a result of the action.

The representatives favored the abolishment of "scouting" as it now is used. They defined sharply the difference between scouting and "sneaking" and endeavored to put the former on a higher plane and eliminate the latter. All feeling of secrecy, must be driven out and every step must be taken to make the work aboveboard, they said. In the future valley conference schools will notify their opponents when a man will be scouting them. The opponent will meet him, entertain him and see that he gets one of the best seats in the field, thus aiding in the scouting to a higher plane.

Selection of basketball officials for the next season and final selection of the officials were postponed until the next meeting which will be held at Sheboygan the first week of school next fall.

A new type of football and basketball was adopted for the conference use when the members decided on a Goldsmith ball made by the Goldsmith Co. of Cincinnati and handled by the Gordon Bent Co. at Green Bay. The balls have no outside valve but are inflated and deflated by application of a "squeezing" machine to a hole in the cover.

In order to stop complaints of many sport followers and schools at the end of the basketball season that one team has played more games than another and has thus won the conference title on percentage, a uniform schedule of 10 games for each school was adopted. The schedule demands that every school play every other conference school at least one game so that another old complaint of backers of two teams which have never met but which have tied for top honors, that their squad is the best and should have the title, is eliminated also. This means that each squad plays seven games against their seven conference rivals and then must play three more conference games to get consideration for

JOHN T. MACAULIFFE
Coach at Appleton high school for the past year who will enter Rush Medical college for a four-year course, starting next fall. Injuries, ineptitudes and other outside causes kept Mac from having more than a mediocre year, but his ability as a coach and leader was recognized by all his players and opposing mentors.

As an athlete Mac was one of the greatest ever turned out of Appleton college playing on and captaining Mid-west title teams in every sport and being picked many times for all-midwest berths in the three sports. He still holds the college, state and mid-west conference pole vault record.

URGE LOAN OFFICERS TO ATTEND MEETING

Letters urging all building and loan association officers in Wisconsin to attend the state loan association convention here June 13 and 14 are being sent out by George H. Beckley, secretary of the local association. Over 200 representatives are expected to attend the session here, according to Mr. Beckley. More than 20 have already announced their intentions of coming. An attractive entertainment program is being arranged for the evening of June 13 at the opening of the convention.

The title, The schedule runs from Jan. 7 to March 18. Announcement of the 1927 Appleton schedule will be made early next week.

President Heible appointed a committee consisting of one principal one faculty manager and one coach to look into the possibility of making an automatic schedule for the conference. This would stop the constant bickering between schools over scheduling games and would do away with the unsatisfactory conference schedules, loop officials believe. The committee consisting of Principal Auerwald of Manitowish, C. W. Cross of Appleton, and Coach Iversen of Sheboygan, will inspect the Big Seven conference in Illinois and several others where an automatic schedule is said to be working successfully and report at the Sheboygan meeting.

The Fond du Lac high school athletic association was host to the meeting which opened at 10 o'clock in the morning. After the afternoon session the members went to Oshkosh for the valley schoolmaster association meeting.

Joe Dugan Of Yanks Leads Goslin Of Senators In A. L. Race For Stick Honors

New York Star Has .431 for 19 Games and Goose .430; Wilson Leads N. L.

Chicago (AP)—The American league is setting the pace in virtually every department of major baseball. While the hitting in the American is heavier than in the National games, players in the junior circuit also are showing up better defensively and accepting more chances in the field with more success than are players in the National.

The big exception and an evident one is in pitching. Led by Jess Petty and his brilliant work on the mound for Brooklyn, National League hurlers so far this season have made considerably more impressive showings than pitchers with American clubs.

In slugging, the Yankees continue to top them all with a club batting percentage of .319, having rounded out the most home runs, three-baggers and bases generally of any club in either league this year and ranking second to Washington only in base stealing.

Chicago has climbed to second place in the American batting standing with a percentage of .297 and the Senators are third with .295. Chicago's Cubs have shot up to the top in hitting among National teams with an average of .288 and the Giants are second with .282.

Joe Dugan of the Yankees has displaced Goslin of Washington as the leading hitter in the majors, with a percentage of .431 after 19 games, the Senators having dropped to second with an average of .430, among players in 15 or more games. Babe Ruth trails Goslin with .424 and Ty Cobb, after having been in about a dozen games, is hitting .400 over records for the season through last Wednesday's games show.

Hack Wilson, outfielder who went to the Cubs from New York, leads the slugging in the National with an average of .364, although several players in fewer games show better percentages. Stuff Molins of the Pirates has averaged .362 in 14 games and

MAC CONTINUES AS GIANT BOSS

"Smartest Manager in Baseball" Gets Three-year Contract at About $35,000

Chicago — John J. McGraw, who has been piloting the Giants for twenty-five successive seasons, will continue in active management of the team for the next three years at least. This much was made certain here Friday when McGraw announced that he had made an agreement with President Charles A. Stoneman of the New York club to continue his term of service for three more years, at the same salary which he is receiving under his present contract, which expires at the end of this season.

This salary has never been made public officially, but it is understood to be in the neighborhood of $35,000. All this is probably independent of the return which McGraw gets as vice president and stockholder in the National Exhibition company, which is the official title of the New York Giants.

The stocky, gray haired leader of the Polo grounds has been the dominant figure in the growth of the club through all the changes in ownership, policy and playing conditions through the last twenty-five years. Generally credited with being the "smartest manager in the game," he has led the Giants to ten pennants and to victory in three world series.

ADING STARTS RACE EIGHT GAMES TO REAR

Baltimore — Speaking of watched in baseball consider the case of the Reading club in the International League this season. In the first two weeks of play the team won but a single game. The same span Baltimore won by the way seems bent on winning another pennant, grabbed 11 in 11 attempts.

Thus, with the campaign barely under way Reading supporters and their club eight full frays before the leading Orioles. And eight frays is quite a bit to make up at this early stage of the season.

OVES DROPPED A TOUGH TILT TO YANKS

That was tough tilt "Lefty" Groves to the Yanks the other day. Any one of 11 batters like Huggins possesses down on strikes, you drive to win. It just happened that "Sam" Jones was also having an exceptionally good afternoon the same day.

ENCER HARRIS DOING WELL WITH WHITE SOX

Young Spencer Harris, rookie out-fer, has been playing a nice game with the White Sox. He's been hitting and fielding nicely. Harris at time starred with the Bay City, Michigan Ontario League.

Joe Dundee, Baltimore, outpointed George Levine, Brookline, 10 rounds. Sammy Baker, Mitchell Field, topped Larry Estridge (2).

George Courtney, Oklahoma, won a technical knockout over Cy Schindler, New York (2).

HELPFUL HINTS FOR GOLFING STARS

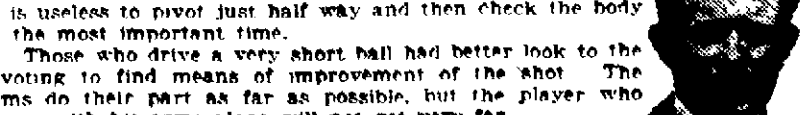

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH GOLFERS MAGAZINE, CHICAGO.

JOCK HUTCHISON—TURN HEAD AFTER IMPACT
If the head keeps its place, the right shoulder will just turn half way round. There is no need for holding the head there an instant longer than necessary to insure that it is turned while the club head is in the middle of the swing. If the head doesn't do this, there will be no meeting of the ball. If the head is not turned while the club head is in the middle of the swing, the pivoting of the body will be spoiled. It is useless to pivot just half way and then check the body the most important time.

Those who drive a very short ball had better look to the pivoting to find means of improvement of the shot. The arms do their part as far as possible, but the player who relies with his arms alone will not get very far.

The follow-through is all important. The club-head must be kept in contact with the ball as long as possible. After the club has left the ball, the follow-through must be complete. The club must be in the follow-through as long as possible. As a result, he obtains very long ball.

He is possible the longest driver in the game and there must be something in the idea of permitting the head to follow a long way.

Valley Loop President Pleased With Prospects

BY AL MAYER
Fond du Lac—Never in the history of baseball in the state of Wisconsin has so much enthusiasm been manifested in the cities of the Fox River Valley.

declared C. J. PreFontaine, president of the Fox River Valley league in a statement Saturday.

Every city has established a strong foundation upon which to start the season and I am pleased to say that every day brings in favorable reports from the team managers," continued Mr. PreFontaine.

"In this I mean that we have started things in each locality which have been dominant for years. At the end of the season the business men have united to make the team a successful one, not by donating but by buying season tickets for the games. The Fond du Lac team has been adopted in the various cities with such success. It consists of selling 200 books of tickets at 25 a book in start the season and the same receipt will be the case of the rest. All club bodies have supported the project."

"At Oshkosh, the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs gave their official support also. The press has been very helpful in the various cities with such success. It consists of selling 200 books of tickets at 25 a book in start the season and the same receipt will be the case of the rest. All club bodies have supported the project."

VALDAIR MILK

BECAUSE IT IS

Put To Every Possible Test
You Will Find No Better Milk Than Valdair

'T-B' Tested
Clarified
Pasteurized

Thousands of dollars has been invested in modern machinery to protect the health of our patrons. Our employees are constantly drilled on the necessity of perfect cleanliness and every one of them takes great pride in the fact that, nowhere can you find richer, cleaner or healthier milk than at our creamery. Drink more Valdair because it is better milk.

MILK WEEK HAS CLOSED BUT DON'T STOP NOW

MILK WEEK HAS COME TO A CLOSE. WE HAVE BEEN TAUGHT BY AUTHORITIES FROM OUR STATE UNIVERSITIES OF THE IMMENSE FOOD VALUE FOUND IN MILK—OUR CHILDREN HAVE BEEN TAUGHT ABOUT MILK IN THEIR SCHOOLROOMS—THIS HAS COST CONSIDERABLE IN TIME AND MONEY AND ALL OF THIS WORK IS OF NO AVAIL IF THIS MOVEMENT IS NOT CONSTANTLY FOSTERED IN THE HOME. DON'T STOP NOW. ENCOURAGE YOUR CHILDREN TO DRINK MORE MILK EACH DAY.

HUNDREDS VISITED OUR PLANT

HUNDREDS OF APPLETON WOMEN INSPECTED OUR CREAMERY LAST WEEK. MOST OF THOSE WHO WERE NOT ALREADY USING VALDAIR MILK, LEFT THEIR ORDERS AND ARE NOW REGULAR CUSTOMERS OF THE VALLEY DAIRY. TO THOSE WHO HAVE NOT VISITED OUR PLANT, LET US AGAIN EXTEND A CORDIAL INVITATION TO INSPECT IT AT ANY TIME.

Our milk supply comes entirely from "T-B" tested cattle, the finest in the state, then it is clarified to give further protection and lastly, but of the most importance, it is pasteurized to eliminate any possible chance of germs. Much of our milk is shipped to Chicago, where the health authorities are the strictest in the country and demand perfect cleanliness.
